School Spirit

The 1950 Quiver Staff believes that enthusiasm for school activities has been greater this year than ever before. We think, therefore, that this should be recorded along with the personalities and events of the year.

The Staff feels that it has "caught" a little of this enthusiasm and wants you to keep your eye on "Bertie, the school spirit", as he travels through the book.

Club Life

Copy Editor Norma Pond whips up a story while Joyce Cowie and Duane Bigsby, sports editors, discuss pictures.

Carolyn Dalley, editor-in-chief, checks Quiver layouts with Features Editor Dee Brim and Organizations Editor Janie Schimmel.

We Record School Life

The school's two publications are the Quiver and the Tomahawk.

The Quiver is published annually and is under the supervision of Mrs. Betty Fournier. The staff works hard during the year to put out a book which will please everyone.

The T-Hawk is a weekly publication under the advisership of Mr. Robert Beauchamp. It is printed by the P. H. S. Print Shop under the direction of Mr. Theodore Carlson. The staff may be seen hurrying around the school searching for the latest news.

We Like To Act

The Productions of the Playcrafters this year were "The Man Who Came to Dinner," "January Thaw," and "Alice in Wonderland." "The Man Who Came to Dinner," a comedy about a famous author who is forced to stay at a family's house and acts as though he is the owner, was highlighted by Kenny Stephen's portrayal of Mr. Whiteside.

"January Thaw" is a comedy about two families who claim the same house. The troubles and worries of the Gages provided much entertainment, and was the Playcrafters' final three-act production.

The famous children's story, "Alice in Wonderland," was presented by the Children's Theatre, but provided entertainment for both young and old.

The Radio Workshop has two broadcasts a week: the Wednesday show which is presented for the primary schools and the Friday show which is the "Story of America."

The aims of the Workshop are to get a back-ground in radio through practical experience in all phases of it; to learn to work together; to develop and create attitudes through the doing of scripts designed to foster good thinking; to provide service to the school and community; and to help each individual realize his worth both to himself and the group.

Freida Wheeler, Jack Weiss, Nancy Davies, Larry Miller, Archie Cotcher, rehearse for a broadcast.

Chuck Warman sings on a program with Chuck Wolford accompanying him.

Children from a grade school sing on the "It's Story Time" program. Rexella Shelton is the Singing Princess on the Wednesday program.

We Govern

Student government at Pontiac High consists of the Student Council, the Student Union and the Monitors. A Student Council representative from each room carries suggestions for school improvements from his group to the Council. Hard working staff members of the Student Union take care of distributing Tomahawks, Quivers, and tickets for football and basketball games. Monitors have the duty of keeping the halls in order and making sure that students have permits when passing through the halls during class time.

The G. R. A. is under the direction of Miss Reva Bailey. Among the sports the members play are basketball, soccer, badminton, pingpong, and volley ball. The girls have a set schedule of activities, and they follow it through the year. Teams are made up which compete against one another and other schools.

Parties, Saturday swims, and selling at the games are on the agenda for the year. In the spring the girls have a "walkon" when they give the graduating seniors a farewell picnic and award them letters.
