Pontiac Central's New 1968 Action Team

Principal Garth Errington

In order to succeed, one must have able leaders. In order to achieve action, one must have leaders who are active. This year, Pontiac Central students were fortunate enough to have an action team to lead them. The action team set a goal for itself and the students of this school. That goal was to lead not only academically and scholastically, but in the realm of behavior as well. And lead they did.

Pontiac Central's 1968 Action Team consisted of, newly appointed principal, Garth Errington formerly with the Albion public schools, Assistant Principal Donald McMillen, transferring to Central from Pontiac Northern, Assistant Principal Edward Dauw, Assistant Principal Smith Carson and Administrative Assistant Harold Smead.

With this new team of action-minded administrators, Central's aging edifice saw changes which revitalized it. It saw unity within Central as the youthful energy of its student body was channeled into competition between its three classes. The tradition of class officer elections was continued as the seniors chose John Mason as their president, the juniors chose Purvis Hunt and the sophomores chose Carol Washington.

With active leaders and a united student body, Pontiac Central developed a new pride in its accomplishments.

Assistant Principal Edward Dauw works to maintain smooth relations between the student body and the Administration.

Donald McMillen, Assistant Principal in charge of instruction, supervises class scheduling and the distribution of student report cards.

Assistant Principal Smith Carson supervises student control and discipline.

Checking over the attendance lists are: Harold Smead, Attendance Office Secretary Margaret Lowry, Kathryn Fair, and Sheila McDonald.

Mr. Errington's secretary, Pat Byers.

Main Office secretaries Margaret Todd and Jackie Reene.

A Story

Featuring: Office, Trade and Industrial Retail, and Food Service Co-op

Out of a growing relationship between the student, the faculty, and the community, has grown a story of cooperation at Central. Joining the skills students learn in school with their actual job experiences, the students are able to become successful members of the community.

The story begins at Central with the counseling department which is set up to discover if a student is oriented to the co-op program and if he is capable of combining school work with his co-op job. Placed in one of the four areas of the program the student then begins his training. The program covers office work, trade and industrial work, retail work and food service.

Coordinators of these four facets of the program keep their students informed of job opportunities as well as informing the public of the program's function and opportunities available for employing co-op students.

The office co-op student is taught vocational typing, shorthand, data processing, the operation of office machines, office composition and bookkeeping. After training, these students are given on-the-job training at an office or business establishment in the Pontiac area. Job placements, made by Coordinator Ralph Rotsel, have included secretaries, typists, bookkeepers and data processors.

Students participating in the trade and industrial co-op programs are trained for such vocations as, drafting, printing, cabinet making, auto repair, welding, and electrical service. Upon completion of his co-op training it is hoped that a student will have developed a saleable skill. Also under the supervision of trade and industrial coordinator Donald Kaiser are nurses' aides and dental technicians.

Offered to prepare a student for a career in sales, advertising and display is the retail co-op program. Coordinated by William Rogers, its courses in salesmanship and principles of retailing ready the trainee for his job training.

Food service co-op students are given valuable experience in the Wigwam, a teachers' dining service. Supervised by Mary K. France, students plan, prepare, and serve food, as well as maintaining the Wigwam as a restaurant. Upon completion of his training in the Wigwam, a student may be placed in an actual restaurant to complete his training.

The employer is given the opportunity to train employees while they are still in school. The student is given a chance to find out what the world of employment is like as a full time employee. The student is also able to become a more involved member of his community as he develops a better concept of life in the adult world.

Co-op: School Training, Job Experience

Earning at the same time he's learning, the income a student receives from his co-op job can oftentimes help finance education for college bound seniors. In other cases, it sometimes develops into the student's permanent income after graduation.

As well as being paid, a student participating in the co-op program is graded on the basis of his performance.

The End

Upper right: Retail co-op student Tom Brown, working at People's Food Market, finds that more is required than brainpower to learn a job skill. Lower right: Ray Hibbs, Retail co-op student working at Consumer's Department Store keeps its shelves well stocked.

Individualized Instructional Program

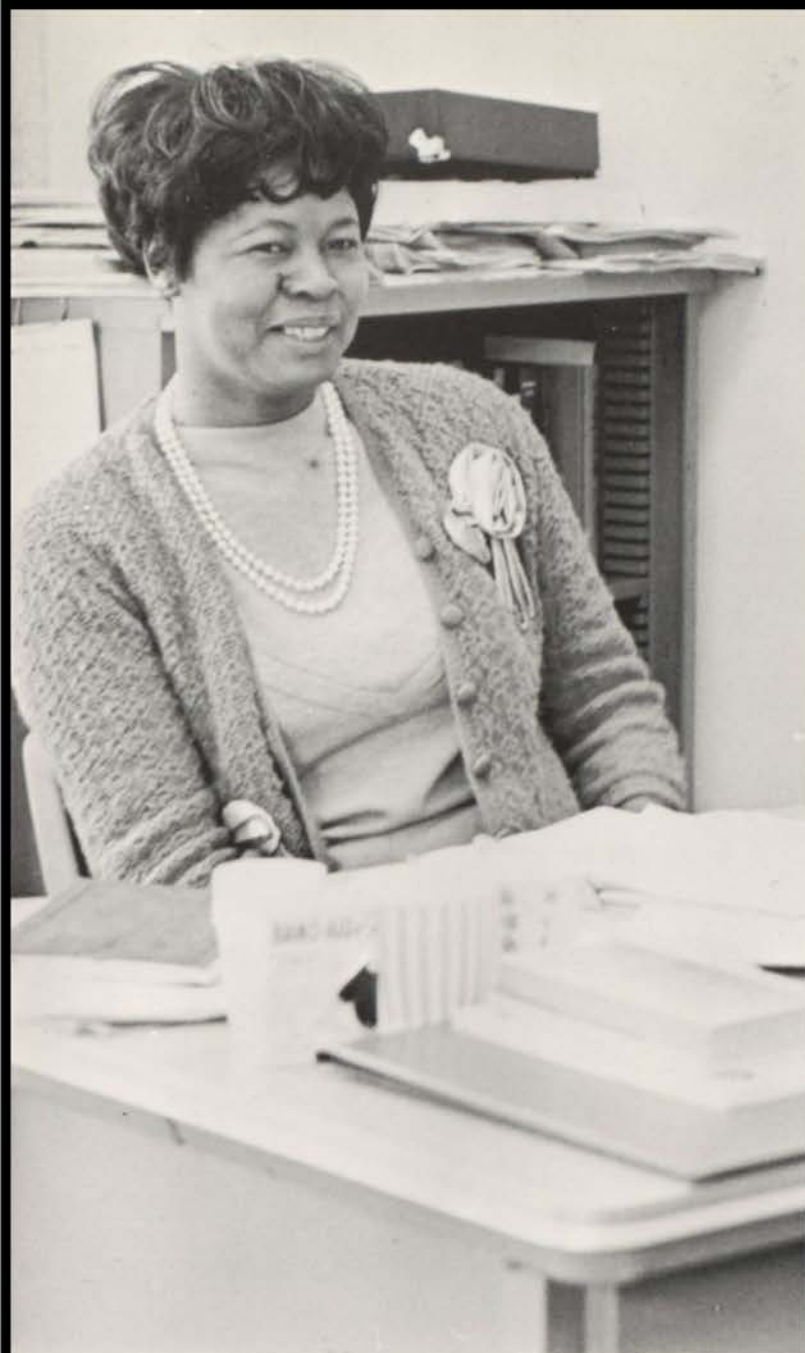

Instructor James Davis

Something new has moved into the two story house on the southwest corner of Franklin and W. Huron. Associated with Pontiac Central, its official title is the Individualized Instructional Program. With three teachers and a coordinator, the program is initially intended to serve 45 students. Greater emphasis is placed on independent study and individual attention. Efforts are made to design programs for each student in terms of his individual needs.

To "Fire" Curiosity: A Challenge

It is the endeavor of the Science Department to challenge students and fire their curiosity. General science, biology, chemistry, and physics courses are tools used in achieving this goal. This year an Advanced Chemistry course, taught by Lester Mack, was offered as a challenge to present physics students.

David Siple, department head, feels that students must learn to ask questions and, through experimentation and study, find their own answers.

Additions to the science department were Tom DeVaney and Carl Jones. Both are presently teaching biology courses.

Albert Cannon assists Sylvia Simon and Sandra Alsup with a titration experiment. Titration: that's a good word for science term dropper.

Central's advocates of science are: Robert Robb, Maurice Levine, Judy Ungvary, David Siple (department chairman), Lester Mack, Tom DeVaney and Jerry Beckner.

In Carl Jones' biology class, Marsha Montgomery properly identifies the heart of the Thim Man, a visual aid with overlay additions to stimulate the study of anatomy.

Club Features Field Trips

The main objective of the Biology Club is to expose students interested in biology or life science to fields they could someday use as life occupations. Field trips, once a month, take them to places such as hospitals, funeral homes, the zoo, and veterinaries.

On a trip to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, they discovered a program for any student interested in medicine. Students who sign up for this program are assigned to a doctor. They go on rounds with the doctor and are sometimes permitted to watch operations.

In the spring, the club goes to Canada to hunt fossils and have a picnic.

Lab partners Joyce Tate and Jim Coyle probe the flesh of an unidentifiable creature.

Chemistry students Mindy Joos, Linda Holland, Carolyn Howard and Brenda Mitchell conduct experiments to find the basic or acidic properties of different chemicals.

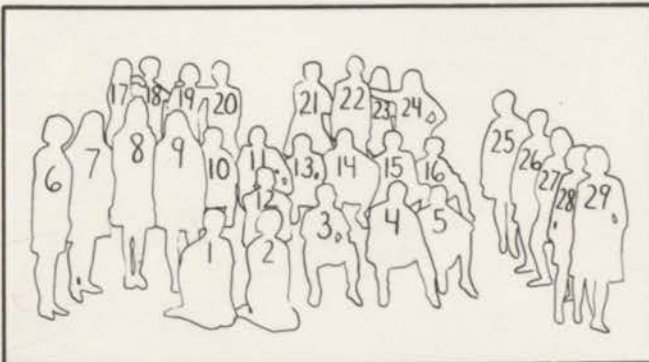

Randy Leist and Ken Ellison listen attentively to gain the background they need for chemistry.

Math Contest Is Highlight

On April 25, 1968, 19 students competed in the third annual math competition against Waterford Kettering.

Competing in the contest were Don Carros in coordinate proof, Jeff Ross in functions, Mike Leacher in conics, Cliff Berfett, Rodney Knudsen, Arnie Finkelstein, Jeff Rosner and Janie Ulrich in logic, David Rath, Billy Strickland, Russ Glasgow, and Rod Wooten in absolute value, Albert Yee, Jeff Ross, Felix Rudolf, Rick Cody and Steve McKelvey in number theory and May Yee, Carol Sempere, David Rath, Felix Rudolf and Bruce Crossman in slide rule.

New additions to the faculty are David Stracham, Betty Heimke and James Goodfellow, all of which teach a variety of courses in the department. Mr. Goodfellow is also an assistant coach in football and baseball.

The math teachers are (seated): Betty Heinke and Eleanor Byrnes. (standing): Joseph Blank, David Strachan, Stuart Choate (department chairman), Eddie Porter and James Goodfellow.

Cheryl Freeman and Wendy Brown assist math instructor James Parker with slide rule instruction.

African Studies Leads Dept. Innovations

The African Studies course, taught by Roger Roller, was introduced this year in order to acquaint American students with a culture different from their own.

There were several new additions to the social studies faculty. Jolan Webster, Bertil Carlsson, and Robert Lorenz teaching United States history, Clifford Borbas teaching United States history and Civics and Roger Roller teaching African Studies.

United States history was taught to both sophomores and juniors this year in order to convert to a new teaching plan for next year. History will be taught for two years. From 1492-1865 will be taught in the ninth grade and from 1965-present day in the tenth.

Social studies instructor, Bud Domurath, spends his third hour in the Quiver-Tomahawk room with Tomahawk Editor Bev Bacak.

Officer James Lafnear discusses the pamphlet "What You Should Know About The Law" with Civics classes.

Peggy Toten, Sherry Powell, and Jerry Hinsperger ponder the question, "If Lincoln wrote his Gettysburg address on the back of an envelope, what did he put in the upper, left hand corner?"

Their Goal: Defensive Driving

Defensive drivers not only obey traffic laws, but they watch for hazards and other drivers that may endanger their own or others' lives. Included in being a good driver are knowing how to operate a motor vehicle properly and understanding something of the maintenance and servicing to keep a car in good condition.

Pontiac Central's driver education department, headed by Dean Wilson, consistently produces good drivers with a lasting awareness of what it means to be a "good" driver.

Driver Education instructors: Dean Wilson, Roger Sheppler and Ralph Grubb study the day's plans for "riding the range"

Pontiac Retail Store provides automobiles for driving instruction.

Roger Shepler assists Detria Goff in checking her reaction time while Lee Rebenneck finds a comfortable steering wheel position.

Dean Wilson (department head) explains range procedure to driver education students.

Future Nurses, Teachers, Homemakers

It is the endeavor of the home economics department to prepare its students for future home life. Subjects such as foods, personal health, and nutrition are used for this preparation. There is also a Foods for Boys course to emphasize the Male's importance.

Jean Walker, first year home economics teacher, displays a sample of patchwork quilting to a clothing class.

Newly Formed Chess Club

Wednesday nights at 3:15 p.m., in room 313, the PCH Chess Club meets under the direction of Anton Lingl and Carmi Odell. The chess players consist of Don Carros, Bruce Crossman, Jerry Jacobs, Gary Durfee, Randy Lingenfelter, Chuck Morris, Martin Ratstall, Jeff Ross, and Albert Yee.

In the tournament between Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern, PCHS won, of course.

Mr. Odell discusses the Chess Tournament with Pontiac Northern's Chess Club advisor.

Anton Lingl watches as Albert Yee ponders his next move.

Don Carros (center) wonders what the next move will be in the match between Gary Durfee and Bruce Crossman.

Spirit, Spirit, Spirit

The Very Essence of Spirit

At the core of any football or basketball engagement is the excited twirl and leap of a spirited squad of cheerleaders. Central has the best! Win or lose, the girls, under the inspired sponsorship of instructor Dorothy Chantler, have been bright examples of fairness and good sportsmanship. Directly below are JV cheerleaders Barbara Johnson and Margaret Emerson. Also included are JV members Allesia Daniels and Marva Burns (left), and Doreen Corpron and Marilyn Quance (right).

The very essence of spirit at PCHS is the varsity cheerleading squad: (standing) Janice Muehl, Stacia Burns, and Theresa Hunt, Basketball Captain. Also included are Cathy Crew and Beth Vershure. The far left insert: Maryanne Schoneman, 1967 Football Captain.

With a new pride and spirit the annual Anteneeban Fall Festival was celebrated November 3, 1967. The story of Homecoming was the story of the development and climax of this spirit. A homeroom decorating contest, a pep assembly, football game, and Homecoming Dance climaxed a week designated as Pride Week. Students expressed a pride in their school, as they elected a Chief and Princess and their respective courts and pride in their graduating class as it competed against the two other classes throughout the week. Taking the top honor of Pride Week was the Senior Class which was named the class with the most spirit and pride.

(1) "Stomp Bay City", was the theme of the Junior Class's entry in Central's first float competition. The giant moccasin was awarded first prize.

(2) Chief Snoopy reigned over the sophomore tribe as he rode their class float entitled, "Happiness is Being a Chief"

(3) and (4) Although hampered by inclement weather the Homecoming procession of floats and cars was led by a spirited band.

(5) and (6) Determined cheerleaders lead Central fans in "Fight Fight for Pontiac."

(7) Senior Class President John Mason and Homecoming Dance Chairman Steve Embree, had a "completely unique experience" in thinking of ingenious ways to decorate the boys' gym for the dance.

Chiefs Conclude 1967 Season With Taste of Success

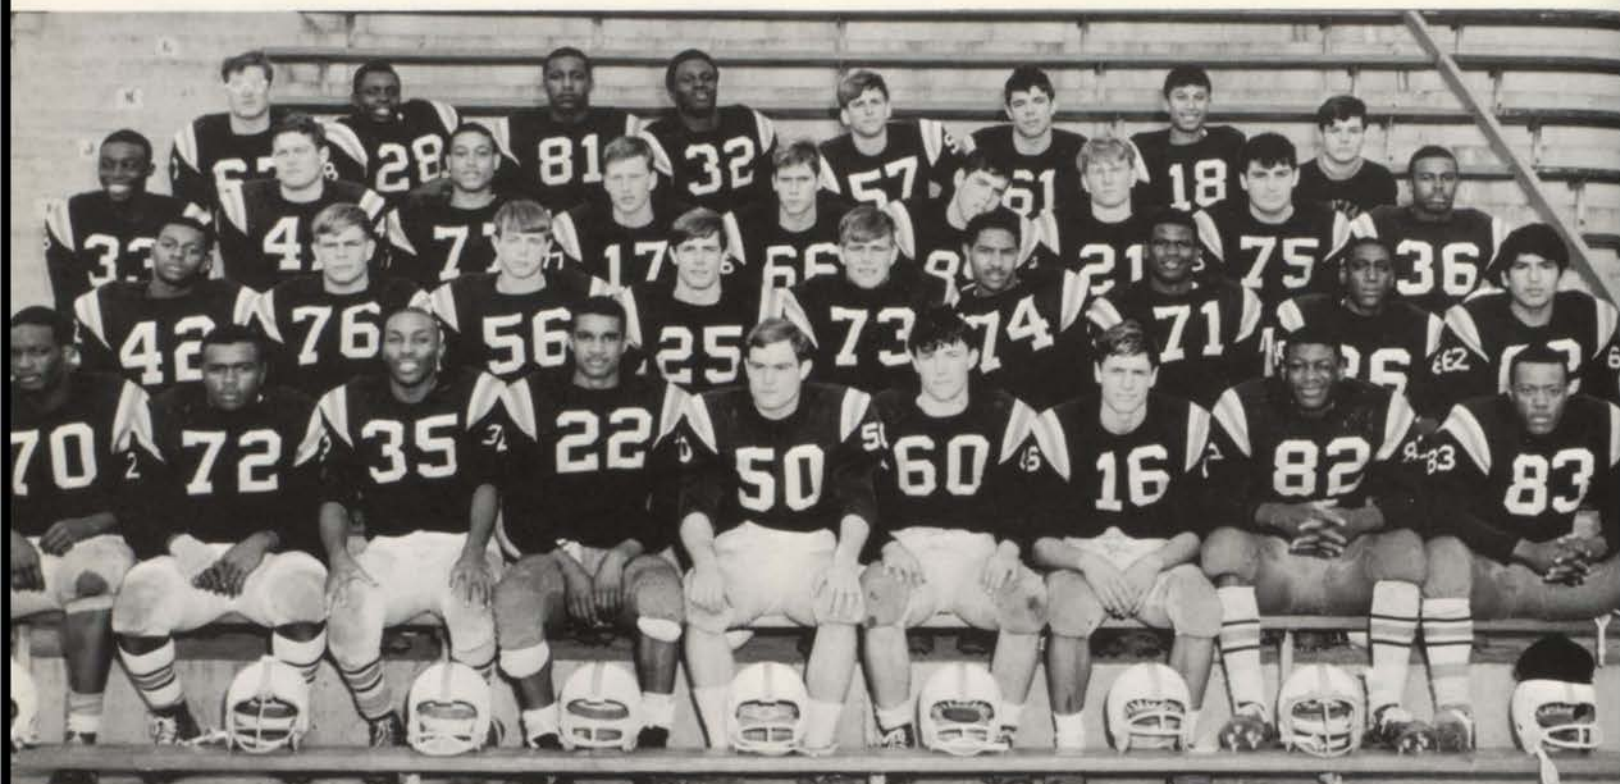

Concluding their 1967 season with a 3-4-2 record, the Chiefs expelled a thankful sigh. Almost every game was played under the threat of ankle deep mud or in it!

The season, however, started and ended with the teasing taste of success. In their opener the Chiefs stopped the Chemics from Midland, and in their final effort dumped the Northern Huskies. Highly rated Flint Central rounded out the list of fall victims.

As a reward for their gridiron performances Larry Froede and Mike Shorters received recognition. Mike, a defensive back, was named to the All-County, All-Valley and All-State lists. Larry received All-County, All-Valley and All-State honorable mention at a defensive backfield position.

Head coach Paul Dellerba along with his fine staff, including recently acquired James Goodfellow, and his players voted Larry Froede as the season's most valuable player.

Harriers Capture Valley Title

The harriers had their best season since 1955 by finishing third in the State Meet. They won the Milford Invitational, the Regionals, all their dual meets and finally the Saginaw Valley Championship. It was the third championship year in a row for the Chiefs. They also captured the first 100 points in the city's All-Sports Trophy race by defeating Pontiac Northern.

The Chiefs were paced by junior Jon Costello who placed first in the Valley and was named to the All-State team. Jon was the first Central Harrier to ever break ten minutes on a two mile course. He was followed by Senior Co-Captain Larry Hurst and Bob Dickie. They placed second and eighth, respectively, in the Valley meet. Rounding out the Varsity squad were Julian Gloomis and Ken Long.

The JV Harriers had another outstanding year in winning the JV Valley Title for the second year in a row.

Chiefs Win Fifth District Title in Row

The Chiefs, after a 6-6 won lost record in the Valley, which left them tied for 5th place with Arthur Hill, began to jell in the State Tournament. The cagers won their fifth District title in a row after beating Pontiac Northern and Waterford Kettering. The Chiefs continued their winning ways into the Regional tournament by defeating Dearborn Fordson, 70-69, before losing to Garden City East in the finals. The Chiefs had two victories in three games against their cross-town rival Pontiac Northern including a 68-61 tournament victory. Central's cagers were led by two leading scorers in the Valley, Frank Russell and Alton Wilson. Russell finished second in the Valley scoring race with Wilson placing a bit further down the list.

Wrestling Warriors

This year's grapplers had one of their better seasons, finishing ninth in the State meet after placing third in the Regional behind highly ranked Pontiac Northern and Walled Lake. The Valley Championship was decided by dual meets and the Chiefs, with a 4-2 record, placed behind Flint Northern and Flint Central who tied for first. A critical 26-25 loss to Flint Northern kept the Chiefs from the championship.

The Chiefs were led by their outstanding co-captains, Charles Mason and Roggie Rodriguez. Mason, a three year letterman in the heavyweight class, finished a fine high school career by placing second in the State meet. Mason also posted a 20-3-0 season mark. Rodriguez, a fine 154 pound junior, posted a phenomenal 22-2-1 season record, capped by a third place finish in the State meet. Also going to the State meet for the Chiefs were 127 pound Larry Arnold and 180 pound Bill Gottschall.

Finish Year With .500 Record

Overcoming the loss of twelve lettermen from last year's squad, the Chiefs finished with a 7 and 7 record in dual meets and had an 8th place finish in the Valley meet. Mike Boga placed the highest for the Chiefs with a 2nd place tie in the 100 yd. breaststroke. John Mason added a 3rd in the 100 yd. butterfly and the 400 yd. freestyle team, consisting of Ed Chovenac, Mason, Chuck Porritt, and Jeff Bisnaz, placed 4th. Other point getters for the Chiefs were Bruce Markham, and Jerry Breen. Mike Boga qualified for the State meet in the 100 yd. breaststroke and John Mason qualified in the 100 and 200 yd. freestyle, 200 yd. Individual Medley Relay, and the 100 yd. butterfly. Physical Education

Realizing that physical fitness plays an important role in daily life, the Physical Education Department strives to emphasize its importance.

The girls' gym classes are taught the basics of golf, archery, volleyball, dancing, and swimming, while boys' gym classes stress body-building and muscle coordination by use of body-building apparatus, swimming, and strenuous exercise.

The knowledge and appreciation of these skills lead to bodily coordination, one of the main goals of the fitness program.

Recreation! Participation!

This year, along with the winter snows, came a new addition for Central's skiing enthusiasts. Under the direction of William Graham, a girls' ski team was formed. The boys' and girls' teams won all of their seasonal, competitive races.

The Bowling Club, sponsored by Albert Cannon and June Heimke, held competition bowling once a week. The two bowlers who finished the season with the highest averages were seniors Bruce Johnson and David Webster.

Deborah Griffin contributes to a discussion in Mrs. Elise Best's English class (right).

The English Department, under the direction of Elise Best, offers a program on three ability levels. Students are placed in the curriculum depending on the degree of success they have at a particular level.

Included this year was an experimental oral English program directed by Jerry Garner, Pontiac Schools speech consultant. Instructors Blair Johnston and Kenneth Brown cooperated with Mr. Garner in this pilot program. Placing emphasis on oral skills, the goals were to create an awareness of multiple usage levels and to eventually bring about a satisfactory language adjustment in the world of work.

The Reading Laboratory serves the school in several ways. From it, students check out approximately 2000 magazines a month. It is also a center for the circulation of paperback books. In addition, machine aids such as reading pacers and language masters are used to work with individuals and groups to improve reading skills.

The bulk of the equipment in the lab is portable in order to help make the lab functions flexible. As student reading material needs increase, equipment is transferred on a loan basis to classrooms. The lab also serves as an available center for a variety of experiments related to the language arts.

Special Education teacher Gwen Katz works at the time consuming task of scheduling her students (below). Beverly Burton, Sue Hager, JoAnne McVicar, and Elise Best, head of the English Department, stand in line to use the popular copy machine (right).

In a multimedia world of communication, the role of the library is a changing one. As learning becomes more individual, and as our knowledge rapidly explodes in these times, students need to use a variety of media to study in depth. Gradually, our collection is enlarging to include a variety of research materials—books and non-book carriers of information relevant to the interests of students. Included now are books, pictures, pamphlets, maps, filmstrips, and transparencies. The program must remain flexible enough to serve as an instructional materials center for all its faculty and students.

Dexter Gay and Miss Doris Haynes discover that a copy machine comes in handy when a duplicate is needed immediately (left).

Color Them International

Concentration (Denise McCormick) and attention (Mindy Jones) are essential to the study of a foreign language (right).

The foreign language teachers this year are: Ruth Scribner (French), Connie Hubble (Spanish), Anton Lingle (German), Frances Martz (French), and Jill Barlow, student teacher of French.

"Il faut que je sache ... Il faut que tu saches ... Il faut que ... mais pourquoi est-il necessaire que je sache?" dit Anita Crone.

Pontiac Central High School students can exchange comment ca va, buenos dias, or wie geht's with the best of them after enrolling in a foreign language course. Included in the language department this year are: French taught by Frances Martz and Ruth Scribner, Spanish taught by Connie Hubble and German taught by Anton Lingle. Three laboratories aid the student in developing a good pronunciation and fluency in the beginning courses. A study of the literature and culture of other people is the basis of third and fourth year offerings. Some students acquire enough competency to "place out" of their college foreign language requirements. More students are taking advantage of travel abroad study programs which enable them to study a language as they travel and experience the various cultures.

Thespians: Up, Up, and Away!

"Yes, this movie belongs to the Campus Art dealer alright," says Peter Ugolini of the dramatics department.

Over the spring break the members of Thespians went to New York. While there, they toured some of the costume houses and attended several Broadway Productions.

A Spring Banquet was held and entertainment was provided by the members both old and new. At that time new members were initiated.

Members of Thespians this year were: (reclining) Willie Black. Kneeling: Bob Danic, Mike Stowe, and Vic Adams. Standing: Sue Hollis, Margaret Emerson, Teri Bramble, Cathy Crew, Stacia Burns, Darlene Morrissy, Mike Jacobs, and Randy Sutt. On the ladder: Cheryl Dell, Diane Nichols, Estelle Johnson, Maryanne Schoneman, and Barb Hillsey.

Stage Fright? Not Here!

Advanced Drama Takes a Bow

Advanced Dramatics had its major emphasis on acting this year. The students were responsible for the productions of one act plays which were also directed by the students. They presented Cinderella for the children at Pontiac State Hospital. Also covered in the course were stagecraft, lighting, and makeup. Through practical experience the students learned how the backstage activities help enhance the final performance.

The basic drama classes were introduced to the fundamentals of drama. Included were the history of the theatre, pantomimes, oral interpretation, and program planning.

Liz Collias and Mary Greenhalgh relax during an Advanced Dramatics class.

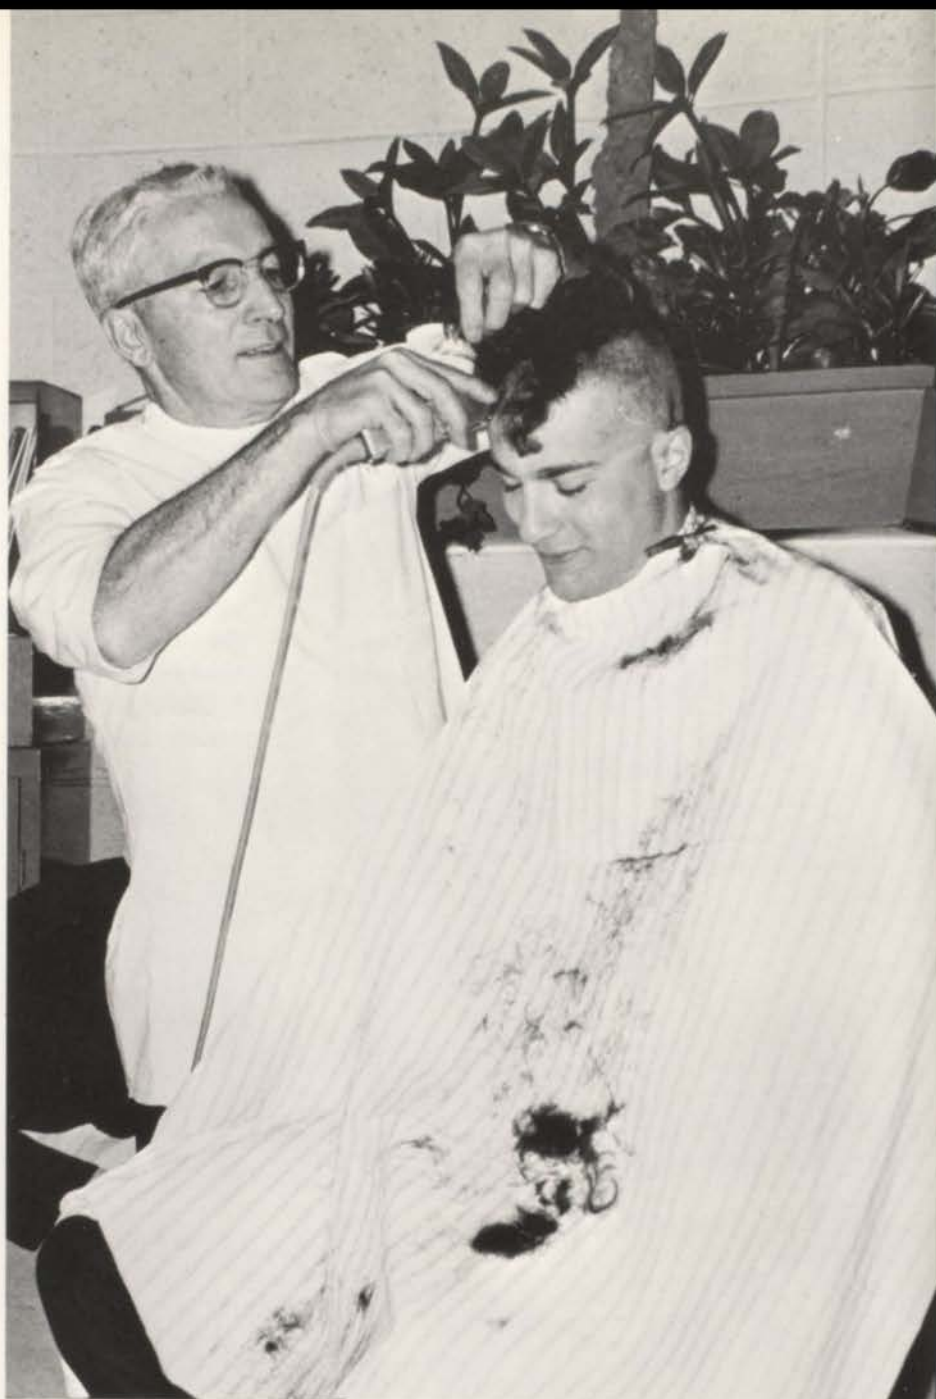

The Ushers Club is organized to provide ushers for such functions as plays, concerts and P.T.A. meetings. Members of the group are: Linda Dunman, Yolanda Griffin, Sandy Davis, Melba Goines, Alfreda Garland, Toni Gray, Evelyn Klock (President), Shelia Rice, Brenda Geirs, Dorothy Ratliff, Diane McCormick, Angie Williams, Sandra McNeely, Donna Smith.

Several days before the first performance of The King and I, John Cairo, Mike Stowe, and Vic Adams (left) met the hungry clippers of Roscoe Hodge, a Pontiac barber. Without a hair to speak of, Mike, Vic, and John (below, left) display their cranial splendor.

The King and I, plus all the spring sports, many late, senior activities and graduation will be covered by the 1968 Quiver staff's summer supplement. It will be mailed this summer to all year-book purchasers. Look for it.

The Artistic Impulse Finds Its Expression

Art student, Rick Sherrell, consults his art instructor, John Allshouse.

Above: Those students who designed scenery for the spring musical, The King and I are: Ron Wood, Lyn Kline, and Neil Gray. Back: Barb Puckett and Denise McCormick.

Under the direction of John Allshouse, the department is divided into two main programs. General art, which deals with applied design, and the expanding craft program are the two divisions. Due to the increased interest, advanced drawing has been expanded to accommodate more students.

This year the art classes have been invited to participate in a Red Cross exhibit which will be sent abroad. Also for the first time, exhibition space has been allotted at the Board Office.

The Commercial Art Classes are responsible for design and production of the scenery in the spring musical, The King and I.

Rumpelstiltskin!

Rumpelstiltskin, a children's fantasy under the direction of dramatics teacher Peter Ugolini and student director Victor Adams was presented by Central students the week of November 13. Five matinees were presented to elementary school audiences with an evening performance on November 18th. Appearing in the cast were: Diane Nicholl as Rumpelstiltskin, Patti Dell as the Princess, Stacia Burns as Hulda, Willie Black as the King, Bill Katip as the Prince, Mike Jacobs as the Miller, Jackie Washington as the Miller's wife, Margaret Emerson as Karen. Also appearing were: Mike Leacher, Chris Lewis, Alana Cargle, Vickie Chambers, Carol Haanes, Randy Leist, Nick Lealand, Gay Behler, and Doreen Corpron.

T-Hawk

The Tomahawk has concentrated on improving Central's racial misunderstandings. Advisor Bud Domurath feels that the T-Hawk has made significant contributions toward airing these misunderstandings, making the situation less dangerous.

It is his contention that a school newspaper (which operates apart from a journalism class project) should be a student-run publication whose task is more than reporting three-week-old news, more than backing school spirit drives, and more than promoting competition. It can accomplish these goals and much more. The T-Hawk goal was to clear up misunderstanding; it has accomplished this and, therefore, has been successful.

Working to put together Central's biweekly newspaper were: Chris Griffin, Steve Embree, Bev Bacak, John Mason, Kathy McClure. Second row: Shelia Rice, Lyn Cline, Karen Stringer, Anita Crone, Alfreda Butler, Pauline Smith, Beatrice Wright, Annette Johnson, Diana Palmateer, Cathy Crew. Third row: Cecyla Brown, Larry Tremper, Rick Rogers, Jeff Bourgeau, Dave Waffle, Jan Godoshian, Cary Mazur. Forming the editorial staff of the T-hawk were Associate Editor Kathy McClure, Sports Editor John Mason, Editor Bev Bacak, and Business Manager Steve Embree. (Below) Student Union members were; first row: Advisor Gene Gerard, Janet Coffing, Jacque Smith, Linda Lippard, Rachel Merkovitz, Judy Fenberg. Second row: Thomas Putnam, Gay Neal, Charles Stearns, Mary Breen, Debbie Sterling, Debora Pesola, Linda Jensen. Third row: Jeri Ann Frizzell, Laura Seiss, Kathy Gabbard, Belinda Keefer, Jane VanLinden, Chrisie Shorey, Carolyn Neal. Fourth row: Aggie Childers, Virgie Johnson, Brenda Giers, Robert Grove, Richard Vine, Harold Stahl, Ralph Claus, Laras Eason.

To be a member of the Student Union Staff, "one must be able to put up with the same teacher two times a day for two years", says Gene Gerard, Student Union sponsor. Good grades, honesty and dependability, and a willingness to work are the other requirements. The staff sells activity cards in the fall, passes out T-Hawks to each homeroom, and distributes the Quiver in June.

Quiver

Amid the blood, sweat and tears of its staff members the '67-'68 Quiver finally went to press in late March. The staff worked from early September leaving missed deadlines, broken typewriters, and wastebaskets full of forgotten efforts in their wake. In addition to the regular edition of the Quiver the staff has planned to add a summer supplement covering spring activities at Central that deadlines had previously prevented the staff from covering. Right: Composing the staff were: Joan Blaylock, Cathy Crew, Brenda Kelly, Maryanne Schoneman, Karne Merkovitz, Anita Crone, Connie Cuthrell, Barbara Weyant, Margo Graves, Steve Mc Kelvey, (standing) Advisor Ken Brown. Bonnie Munroe and Onita Little are not pictured.

Choir Competes

Our A Cappella Choir has done it again. On Friday, March 8th, the A Cappella Choir competed in the Class AAA district contest.

Their two selections were "Lacrymosa" by Mozart and "Entrata" by Goemanne. The 89 members took three out of three first place ratings.

The choir seemed to have "Good control and blend, a fine appearance, music that seemed to be "alive" and excellent balance, according to the three judges.

One of the more rewarding experiences they had was when the choir performed at a City Commission Meeting and received a standing ovation.

The Swingers was a vocal group at Washington Junior High, but made their move to Central when Gilbert Jackson began teaching here. The group of sophomore boys have performed at the Christmas assembly, the YWCA, and at various junior highs.

The Girls' Choir, under the direction of Gilbert Jackson performed for the Central PTSA, the school Christmas program, various junior highs and at the Spring Concert.

The Folksinging Club, sponsored by Carl Knirk, met after school on Thursdays. Everyone brought a new song and his guitar to each meeting. The club has attended the Simon and Garfunkle Concert, and has sponsored an Ugly Man Contest.

Swingers are: John Cairo, Jim Sluka, Jim Robinett, Jan Baumkel, Steve Strine, Dan Schlyfestone.

Girls' Choir

Marching Musicians

A familiar form of entertainment on the football field during half-time this fall was the precise ranks of Central's marching band. Under director Richard Morse, led by Drum Major Bill Rollo and his assistants Jeff Bisanz and Bill Katip, the band (104 strong) performed on numerous occasions both on and off the football field.

In early October they were invited to march in Western Michigan University's Homecoming Parade.

At their annual Christmas Concert, they played host to several area junior high bands.

The Drum Major staff for this year were: Director Morse, Bill Katip, Bill Rollo, Mike Roush and Jeff Bisanz.

One Hundred Four Swingers

Pontiac's Best Marching Band

The Wind Ensemble, a fairly new group added to the instrumental department, entered a Band Festival in Mt. Clemens, receiving a high rating. In April, the Wind Ensemble made a record of their best hits of 1966, 67, and 68. This record was only sold to faculty and band members. They also participated in the Spring Concert. The Concert Band meets third hour with Mr. Robert Morse. They are not a performing band. However they learn the basic techniques of instrumental music. The Stage Band meets Tuesday night after school. They have recorded a song on the album.

The Symphonic band made a recording of their best songs of the years of 1966, 67, and 68. They also toured the area junior highs under the direction of Robert Morse.

Dale Aldo led the Pep band throughout the basketball season at both games and assemblies.

Throughout the year the Orchestra toured the junior high schools,—provided music for The King and I, and ended the year with the Spring Concert.

'68 Seniors Sound Off

The Quiver staff, in its quest for truth, tramped the ancient passageways and homeroom haunts of the 1968 seniors. Opinions were sought on a variety of topics. The most common were the ever popular length of skirt, the ominous abstract success, and the perplexing flower people or hippies. And of course, there were the ones we couldn't print.

Ruth Gibson on skirts: "They are going too far, showing off what they shouldn't be ... a little bit goes a long way!"

Tomas Villarreal with tongue in cheek on success: "It's faking your way through school and getting a cap and gown."

Joe Gordon on hippies: "They have given up the traditional behavior of their parents and the goals of the adult world ... Beauty, love and co-existence are their reasons."

Charlotte Miller on skirts: "They are going down! They've got to go down! That's the only place left for them to go."

Glo-Ann Walsh on success: "An A on a paper does not mean success unless you've earned it."

Anthony Snoddy on skirts: "Skirts will turn into twelve inch wide belts in 1968."

Maxine Thome on success: "It's aiming for the sky and reaching the top of the fence."

And on hippies: "They are unfortunate females whose parents won't let them take instant breakfast."

Larry Tremper on success: "Success is happiness; if you are not happy and don't have peace of mind, I don't feel you are a success."

LaVerne Chatmon on hippies: "They are people who are confused, misunderstood ... dirty half of the time, and they need haircuts and some clothing."

Verna Katip on hippies: "They should be helped, but not supported!"

Martie Thorpe on skirts: "I don't know about skirts getting any shorter ... but if they do everything else will have to get longer."

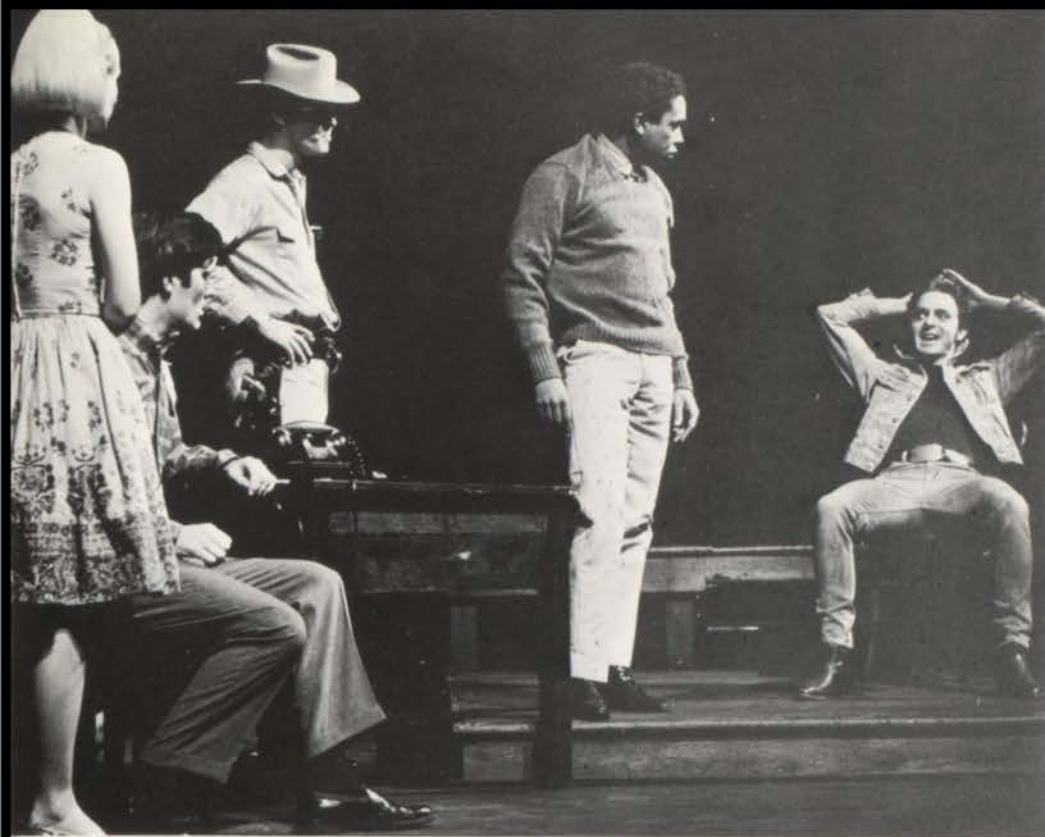

Meadow Brook Second Season Maintains Its Popularity

Among the plays presented to Pontiac Central student audiences by Oakland University's (professional) Meadow Brook Theater was the delightful comedy, Charley's Aunt, possibly the season's most popular play.

Left: Disguised as Charley's aunt, Lord Fancourt Babberly (Curt Dawson) acts as chaperone for two of Charley's lady friends (Lorna Lewis and Barbara Caruso, below). His most serious interference is caused by the lady's pompous guardian, played by Eric Berry.

And People All Around, by George Sklar, was based on the murder of three civil rights workers. The play, reputed to be the most significant of the season, featured (left) Pam Guest, Neil Hunt, Victor Holchak, Booker T. Bradshaw, Jr. and Curt Dawson. Sklar used the classical device of the chorus which included Otho Burr, Beverly Atkinson, Frank Wilson, Pam Guest, Pat Carson (a Pontiac Central graduate), Neil Hunt, and Chorus Leader, Booker T. Bradshaw, Jr. (below).

Throughout this portrait section you will find opinions on a variety of topics. The editorial staff thought it would be a good idea to show underclassmen to be more than stiffly posed faces on an 8½ by 11 page of 80 lb. paper.

Deborah Preston on what will happen to hemlines in 1968: Hemlines keep pace with the stock market ... the hemlines will fall when the market drops.

(Editor's note: Too much prosperity could bring about disastrous results.)

Anita Simmons on hippies: A hippy is a person looking for peace in a world of war, conflict, and hostile feelings. In my opinion, they need to be understood and not criticized. They are people with deep emotional feelings about the world they live in. I hope that someday the world will listen to what they have to say.

Joan Blaylock on dating: People should start dating when they're old enough to control themselves and still young enough to have fun.

Kenneth Harris on hippies: They are people who have given up on life ... I think that if the world changed to match the hippies' way of life, they would give up being hippies.

Marilyn Quance on dating: There is no set age ... but if you start dating too soon ... later, the excitement is gone.

As you probably have been aware of the problems we had with this section, it would be a waste of time to dwell on them. However, if you had your picture taken and it was not correctly identified, or it appeared in another class section, or it did not appear at all, we can only ask for your anonymous forgiveness. As far as we have been able to determine, there must have been at least a hundred students who did not keep their places in line between the girl who numbered the envelopes and the photographer who took the pictures. This "harmless" bit of activity changed the order of an untold number of innocent people. (Advisor, Kenneth Brown).

A diamond is

Forever Beautiful

For more than 50 years now, the men of Connolly's have been importing and supplying diamonds for Oakland County. It is true: "The men behind the diamond are part of what you buy." And here are men who have stood the test of time. Flawlessly.

What ever happened to the self-made man?

There's nothing wrong with digging ditches. It's healthy, and these days, it pays well. Too bad it doesn't often lead to something better. It's not as easy as it used to be to work your way up from scratch. Today the really good jobs go to those who have the background to get them.

So whatever chance you have for more training and education, take it.

If you dig ditches in the summer, get ahead by studying civil engineering in the fall. If you plan to work in an office, take night courses. If you have a newspaper route, sock some dough away for more schooling.

Remember what happened to the self-made man . . . he got educated.
How about you?

Editor's Backword

There was a time when what you now hold in your left hand was nothing at all. As the school year progressed those pages became something; the story of the school year, 67-68. Telling this story has been a challenge, sometimes enjoyable, sometimes not; but it is one that shall never be forgotten and soon shall be missed. So now you have come to this last page of thanks. First, thanks to my staff of editors who carried a mountain of problems and responsibilities. Thanks to our intrepid photographer Steve McKelvey who, through his lens, saw the year as no one else could have. A very special thanks for the patient efforts and contributions of; Robert Gillet of Taylor Publishing Company, Frank Storer Jr. and Storer Spellman Studios of Detroit, Art Instructor Jean Smith, Richard Larpenter and the Print Shop, and The Tomahawk and advisor Bud Domurath. Finally, but foremost thanks to Principal Garth Errington, the administration, and the faculty and student body of Pontiac Central. But most of all thanks, kb.
