FINALLY, SENIORS!!!

The Class of '94 . . . "As We Were"

1994 Class officers, Shawndra Eggleston, Timothy Parker and Latawsha Fields pose for this picture early in the school year. Smile Tim, it isn't that bad, is it?

Fashion was a big issue in 1994. Here Ingrid Liimatta and friends display some of the more popular pieces of clothing. (K-Mart stock is up 10-5/8.)

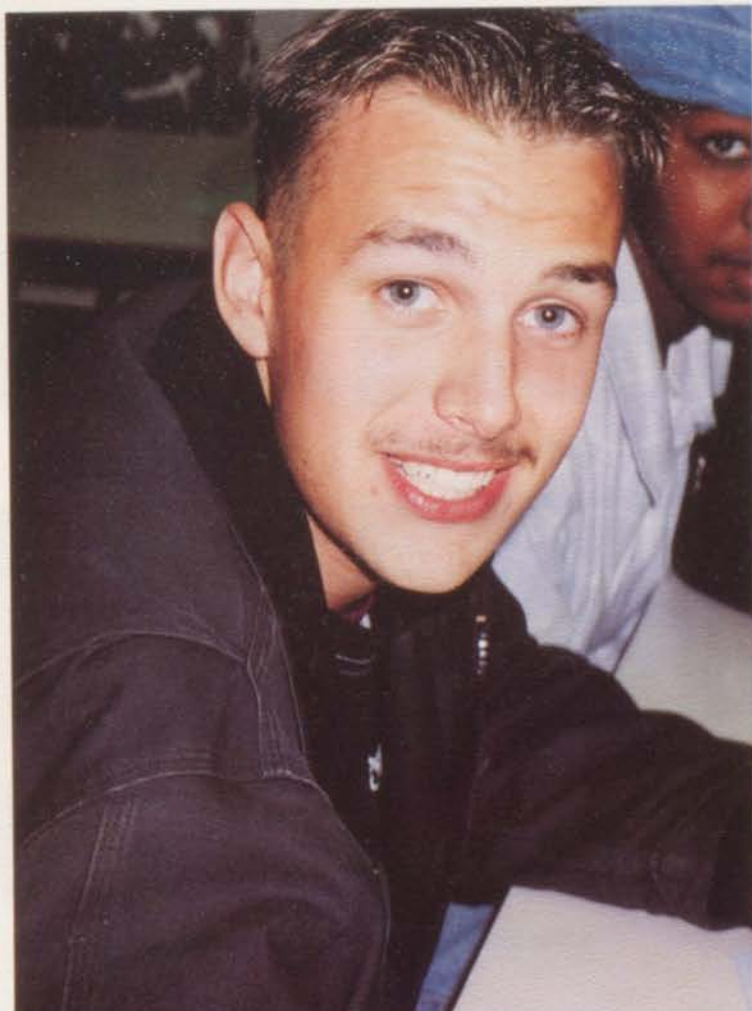

Eric Morton, senior drummer, seems to be enjoying himself as he marches with the mighty Chiefs for the fourth year.

After 13 (or is it 14?) years of school, Mark Threets has finally learned how to tie his shoes. It feels good to achieve such a milestone in life, doesn't it Mark?

Why are you taking my picture? thinks Tamika Gill as she patiently waits for the bell to ring. Going to class is the most important thing on her mind.

Cheerleaders add a great deal to football games. Here, Jessica Smith leads her team to the music of "Fight, Fight for Pontiac" during the pre-game show at homecoming.

SMILE Greg Spencer!

YES! I love to have my picture taken! Thanks Ryan Rowe for making our yearbook a better book!

Baby Pictures

"Once we were young but now are old," but isn't it amazing how some faces never change. As we look back at these pictures we can reminisce on the old day when we were young, innocent, and carefree without any responsibility in the world. But as we look toward the future we are faced with many new challenges, obstacles, and decisions that will change our life. We as young adults have to act mature and use good judgement so that our children and grandchildren can have a better future and we will be able to offer them the same opportunities and privileges our parents allowed us.

QUIVER STAFF

Deadline! Ad! Deadline! Ad!

Staff looks on while Tim Parker tries to type captions.

Tim Parker finally understands what typing is good for.

Lashawna Caddell, Ms. Simpson, Tim Parker, Courtney Pinkney, Editor: Rosana Trevino

What is his last name?

Cropping, Writing, Designing is all part of Lashawna's job!

the ... KEY CLUB

We ate doughnuts, not keys ... and in between we helped our community!

Working hard? . . . HARDLY WORKING! Jennifer Latham rests, as we all exhaust ourselves working at the Lion's game. 30 went and raised 500 dollars. It was fun but tiring (as Jen so fittingly shows us).

"Wat moe chten Sie bestellen?" Ingrid blends well with Key Club's newest German attractions "Ulf and Olaf" at the Palace. They raised $$ for a child with leukemia, and had fun on Halloween night. Remember??

Hangin' ALL out, here we are on an inner club with Lasher at a haunted house. We waited in line, followed a rope, visited McDonalds and went to Monica's house. Basically, it was fun!!! ... Paula, you OK?!

HALF OF US POSE FOR A PICTURE - REMEMBER - IT'S 7:45 A.M.
Back: Miguel Moreno, Tammy Hefner, Bea Fields, Olaf Meller, Ulf Pechortohek, Karen Toth, Monica Brown, Paula Reece, Katrina Navarro, Maria Alsbaugh, Trisha Barr, Jamie Sietz, Ingrid Liihatta, Joe Gonzales, Thasia Allen and in spirit - Bianca P, Megga F, Courtney P, DSamor J, Alicia, Sarah, Ben and Yolanda.

Is there anything more fun than making little kids smile? Here Key clubbers join their supporting Kawanians in singing Christmas carols to WHRC children. Our lively group also served in soup kitchens, gave Valentines to the elderly, caroled for cans, helped out at the Haven, appreciated the teachers, tudored, plus lots more ... THANKS GUYS!! KEEP IT UP!

"STAGE PLAYERS"

Fall Play, Winter Play, Toronto, all part of 7th season!

Mandy Pardington, Andrea Bell, Ingrid Liimatta and Jennifer Latham pose for this picture in the Eaton Center, one of Toronto's largest malls. Don't they look thrilled to be away from PCHS? After 5 days, they were still friends!

Jared Davis converses with his Mother after the Winter Play "The Glass Menagerie". Along with acting, Jared is very active behind the scenes. He has been instrumental in lighting designs set building and stage crews.

Mandy Pardington (right) spends a little time with India German and others following a performance of "The Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams. Maybe they thought this was a photographer from Jet or something!

4TH ANNUAL TRIP TO TORONTO ANOTHER SUCCESS!

Mr. Krontz is trying to explain the way things are done in the United States. Olaf Meller, from Germany, doesn't seem to get it. "I had no problems with Jordan, Olaf. Why can't you understand this? (Sitting in the train station in Lapeer waiting for our ride.)"

"GLASS MENAGERIE" A CLASSIC TRIUMPH FOR STAGE PLAYERS
Jennifer Latham (center) gives an autograph after her performance in "The Glass Menagerie". Todd Ronan, former student and co-founder of the "Stage Players" looks on.

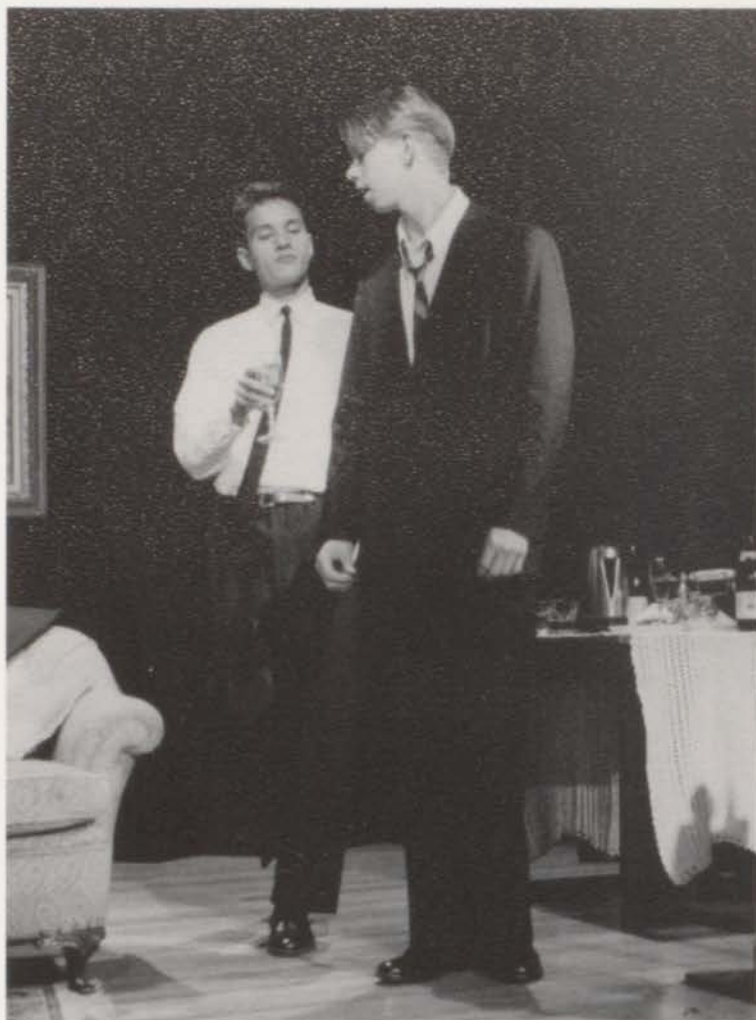

"AN EVENING .. II"

Three one act plays prove to be an exciting evening for the Fall Play.

Michael Moreno (Michael Stone) offers Tony Golem (Mac Beecher) a drink while he waits for his wife in "The Murders of Miriam". Michael completes his second year with the Stage Players while Tony looks forward to another year.

Megan Doty (the maid) playing in her first "Stage Players" production seen here in "Murders..." We might add that this is some costume for a rookie and we wonder how much those legs are insured for? We enjoyed your performance Megan!

Is this a play or is This for real??? Jennifer Latham (Miriam) and Michael Moreno express their feelings for one another in "Murder..." Oh, this is a play but we are not sure if it's for real or not!

Irving Liimatta and Jennifer Latham share a park bench and some deep conversation in the intriguing and inspiring play, "Where Have All The Lighting Bugs Gone?"

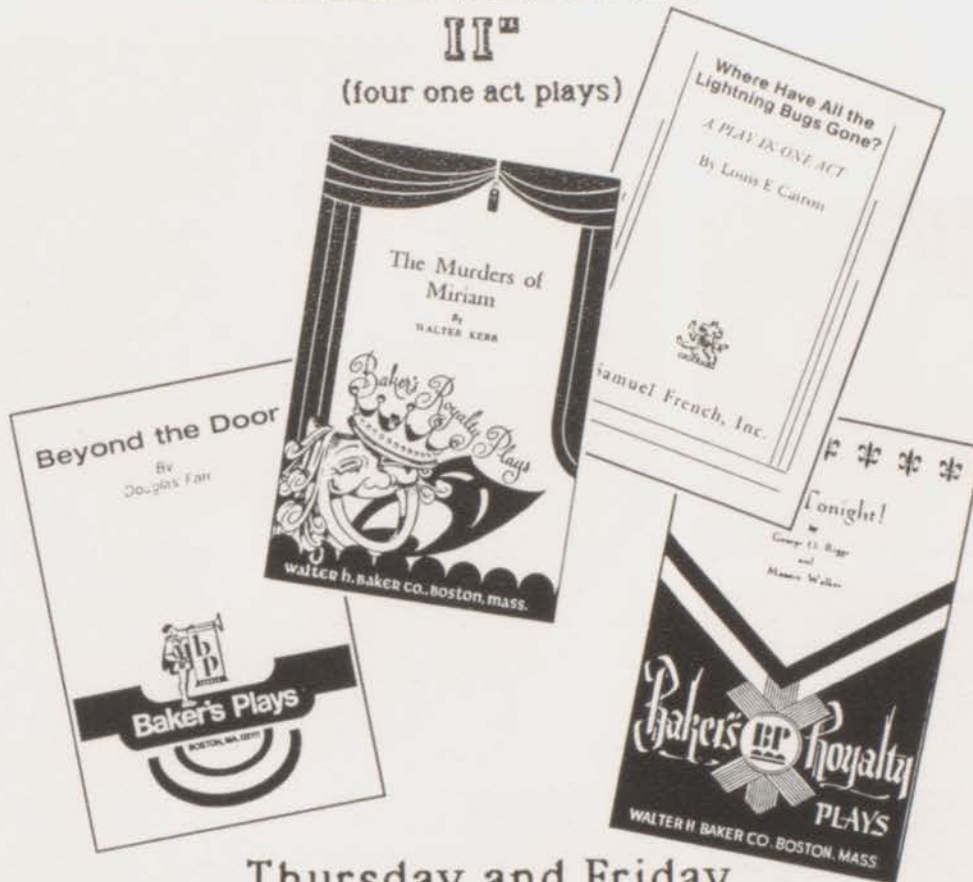

Yet another person to kiss Jennifer, what's up girl? All this time we wondered why you liked acting - now we know! A smooth talking boy has persuaded her to take a chance and live life at face value.

Nominated for Best Actress in a Supporting Role, Ingrid Llimatta shows why she was given this honor. "She has the ability to bring to life any character she is given," says director Mr. Krontz.

Traci Usrey (far right) performed for the second time with the Stage Players but for the first time as a PCHS student. her first role was as Marta in "The Sound of Music" in 1992. Excellent job ROOKIE!

Using the "Little Theatre" in the Performing Arts Academy proved to be an excellent experience for everyone. "It was an intimate setting and gave our students a new experience," said Mr. Krontz, director.

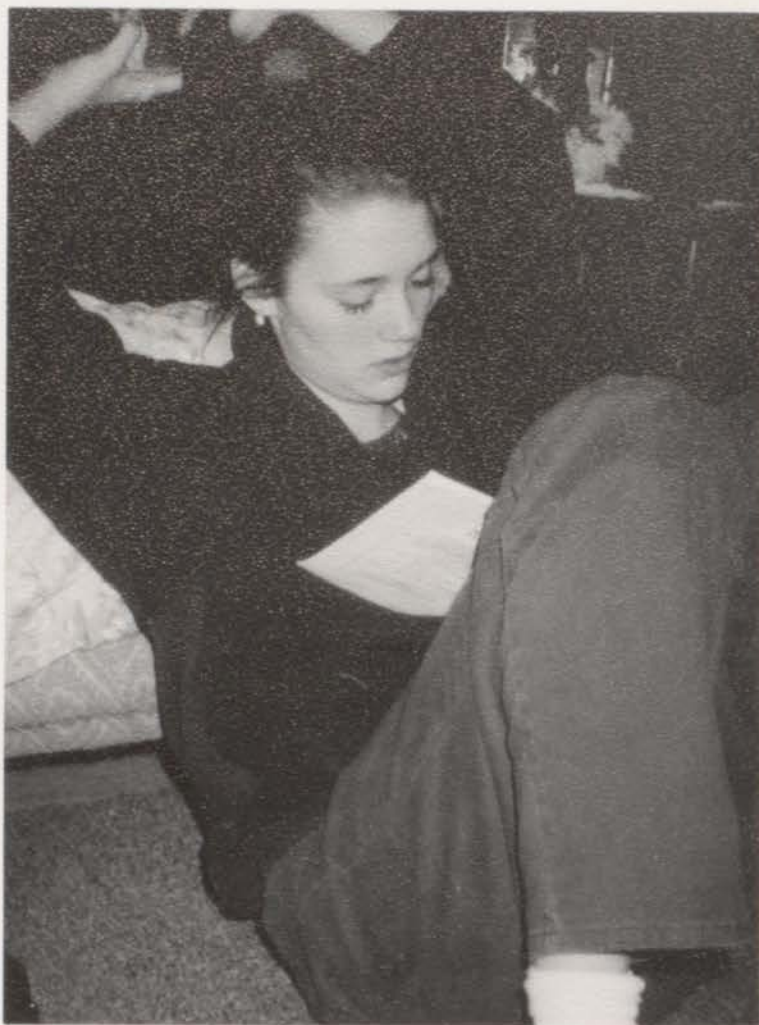

“THE GLASS MENAGERIE”

Tennessee Williams classic tale comes to life at PCHS!

Jennifer Latham relaxes as she works on memorizing lines. Many hours go into a production like this and Jennifer displays her dedication to herself, the cast and the work she is involved in.

This time Michael Moreno (the Gentleman Caller) has caught Mandy Pardington (Laura) in an awkward situation (she doesn't seem to mind). The “kiss” is always a difficult thing to make look natural says Mr. Krantz.

After that exhausting kiss, Mandy and Michael relax during a break. They know the scene is going to be rehearsed over and over and try their best to remain focused. They know what must be done for perfection.

Jared Davis joins his other cast members in showing us how to relax during a rehearsal. He too, knows the work that is involved and takes every opportunity to enjoy himself, yet knows what he must do and does it!

Michael (Jim) is impressed that Mandy (Laura) remembers him from high school chorus. Jim helps bring Laura out of her “Glass Menagerie” and realize that she is normal and can enjoy herself no matter how brief.

Jared Davis as Tom Wingfield the, disturbed with life as he knows it, son, tries to explain why he always goes "to the movies" when he's upset. Jared finished his career with the Stage Players in marvelous fashion.

Jennifer Latham (Amanda the mother) readies Mandy Pardington (Laura) for her first Gentleman Caller. "Jenny and Mandy worked very well together," says Mr. Krontz. "It really made my job easy!"

Michael (Jim, the Gentleman Caller) works very hard to bring Laura out of herself and realize that she is a normal human being. It works for a few minutes until Jim reveals some staggering news.

GLIMPSES OF HOMECOMING ...

DO YOU REMEMBER ...?

1993 Homecoming – Pontiac Central High School

Court members I. Liimatta, T. Sowell and S. Eggleston.

Before opening this section, let's put this week in perspective. The blankets tell us that it was cold. The wind blown hair tells us that it was windy. But the smiling faces tell the real homecoming story ... an excellent time was had by all.

These times shaped our lives, attitudes and dreams.

1993 Homecoming Court

"Who is it? Is it me?" wonders Shaundra Eggleston (1st runner-up).

Tanesha Sowell awaits the decision that will make her the 1993 PRINCESS!

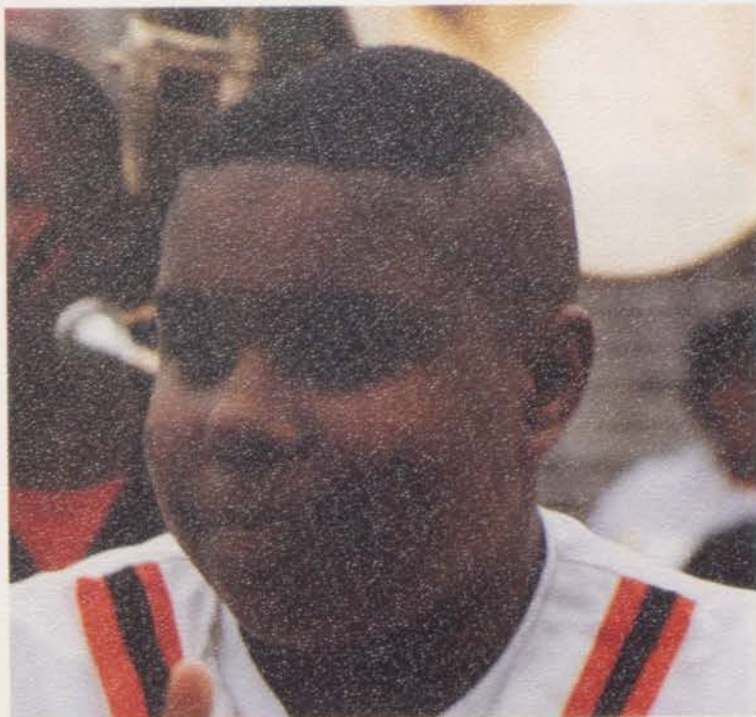

Ingrid Liimatta (2nd runner-up) gleams with PCHS PRIDE!!!

1993 Court announced at the Friday Pep-assembly.

Ian Brown anxiously awaits to hear his name announced as the 1993 CHIEF!

David Wilson (1st runner-up) looks on as the Princess is being named.

PRINCESS Tanesha Sowell congratulates the 1993 CHIEF - Ian Brown.

Out of 12 candidates Latasha Fields is named 3rd runner-up.

Henry VII and wives: Miss Pate, Miss Not a PCH Student, Miss Zerlina Jackson, Miss Tanesha, Mr. Big Daddy Dudley and Miss Pumpkin.

The lovely Miss Harvey pauses to model her new weave, as the seductive Miss Herring speaks of her recent stomach waxing experience.

* REBELLION *

What would life be like if we followed every single rule ... BORING!!

This spirit week was little less than rebellious. Because the administration failed to give the students the days they wanted, i.e., exchange day, pajama day, etc., flyers were sent around to notify students of the "NEW SPIRIT DAYS" ... twin day, switch day, college colors day, and pajama day.

This, of course, was not appreciated by the faculty. These two days were eliminated because of their potential risk they posed to the disruption of the school atmosphere. Pshaw!!! Spirit Week is meant to be fun and students made sure that it was!!

We don't know who created the flowers, or how many were suspended for unseemingly attire on these two days, BUT our hearts go out to you. You gave us a week we won't soon forget.

KEEP THE SPIRIT ALIVE PCH!

Rebelling against school rules, Miss Cook and Miss Cook violate the dress code by wearing dresses and daisy dukes more than two inches above the knee. — Risque!

TWINS OR GIRLS IN HIDING?
Most likely to resemble girls on any other school day - Kiesha Jones and Katinka Hobsons take a taste of Manhood. Lookin' fine men!

PINK & WHITE? FLAMINGO U?
Keyona Hollis and Teria Rouser are just a little confused. No ladies - it's not pajama day, nor twin day. And tacky day was Tuesday.

IMAGES OF MALE BONDING -
What can compare to the tight bonds formed by guys during their high school years? Or is that Shaunda Shorters and Sameka Nash? Maybe you could explain ... girls?

The three weird-a-teers: "Heidi" Tammy LeGuard, "Polyanna" Nicole Strachan, and a garbage pail kid - Susan Phillips.

Just another freshman trying to accomplish the impossible - fitting and looking good! Keep trying Bobby Townsend!

Well, you know what they say, lovely ladies, it's what's on the inside that counts, never judge a book by its cover.

Is that Shane-ne or Kelley Pace looking like that?

Tammy LeGuard, Julie Pickering, Nicole, Jaimie Seitz, Lavenetta Quince, Sarah McCall, Shaunda Eggleston and Katrina Tucker all dressed up to impress, except one - "which one's doing their own thing" (Shaunda)!

Funky Freshman Bianca Potter represents her class appropriately by proudly wearing a baby's diaper and little piggy tails.

A passing moment – Seniors Ingrid Liimatta, Jenna Latham, and other (Freshmen) Kenya Humphrey and Czerni Blair display funky footwear, fresh fashion, and freaky fondus!

All dressed up and nowhere to go — Tony Warren, Robert Napier, Tameka Gill, Heidi Jackson, Robert Damon Flag, Lena Chism, and Robert Naylor.

Boyz II Girls – Marisel Estrada and Genia Wiggington.

"Typical Pontiac students" – Shameka Alexander, Shed Curry, Dephiya and Marilyn Codero – clamoring to get in the picture instead of into the school!

Old styles coming in again – Peter Whittaker, or should we say Michael? Tracey Usrey and her diaper-do, Lavonda Tate, plastic is out, cellophane in! And Rosario with daddy duds!

Mr. Tipton won the opportunity to express his feelings for Mr. Terry. Sorry, Mr. Terry, but over 300 tickets were sold for the opportunity to GET EVEN with you!!!

The pep-assembly climaxed with the introduction of the varsity football team. Here, in a show of unity, the players joined hands and expressed their support for each other.

Mr. Terry, if only you could look this good every day. Thank you, Mr. Terry, for helping the senior class raise over $100.00.

"When is this thing going to end?" thinks Mrs. Hopkins. Sorry Gretch ... it's only half over. We haven't even heard the school fight song yet. You know, "Fight, Fight for Pontiac."

Hey, who is that feathered woman? Detra, Kahala, Richena, Deneen Afiya and many others found their own way to celebrate the 19093 Homecoming pep-assembly!

As always the senior class has a way of showing more school pride than any of the other three classes. Here, students cheer as the 1993 court is announced.

Is Mr. Roller really in charge or do they pay him just to look like he's in charge? By the looks on the cheerleaders' faces, they are not too concerned at all by what Mr. Roller has to offer.

For the second straight year, banners were used instead of floats. Several clubs, including the bowling club and key club, participated along with representatives from each of the four classes.

Hurry up Sarah McCall. It's almost time for the parade to start. Orange and black could be seen everywhere on this cold and windy October day. It's funny, no matter how cold or how windy we still enjoyed homecoming.

My name is Al Brown and I want to be a "Mac Daddy."

As always, the Mighty Marching Chiefs completed the parade with their unique style of marching. All along the parade route, people cheered as they played our famous fight song ... "Fight, Fight for Pontiac."

FORGETTABLE

*"In every way" – A tribute to the unseen
This is for the things and people we won't remember!*

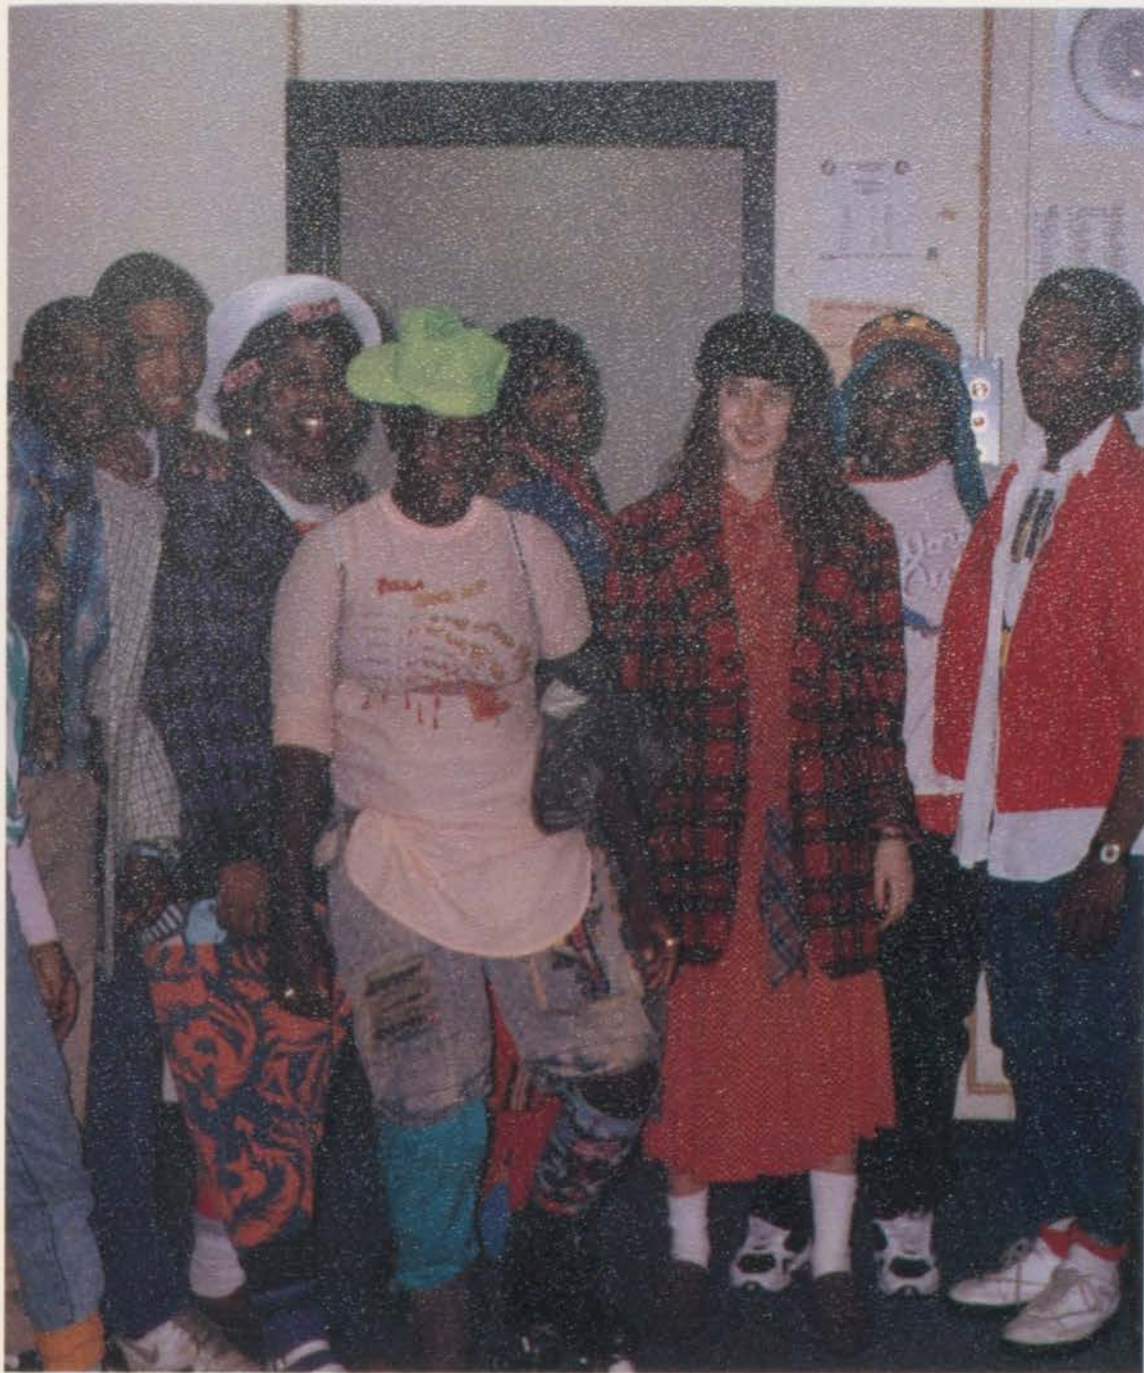

Worried, eh Mark? I was under the impression that prayer was banned from school, however, we'll make an exception in this case, if it's for the team, that is.

Recognize these faces? Probably not, seeing as how they've missed homecoming festivities for decades now. . . . to face severe weather, splinting bones, asthma attacks, and short shorts at the Oakland County meet. You should've run CC!

Pep rallies, football games, parades and dances – those are the usual Homecoming activities. In the midst of the chaos, however, the artistic Jenna Latham works on her masterpiece. Unfortunately, she doesn't have much to work with – for how can you perfect something that's already perfect?

"All the freshmen in the house!" Granted, all of these guys aren't freshmen, but underclassmen, freshmen, what's the difference?

Because of designated spirit days such as "Tacky Day," the regular ragamuffins of the school are overlooked. This is a tribute to all of you slaven individuals, who make fashion statements everyday but are overlooked during homecoming week because you're considered "the norm."

Most people won't remember the rain on that cold day in October, 1993, but these two Junior Class Representatives will. Even if Charmayne Bradley and Rosalyn Taylor are the only ones to remember, and even if they are insane, at least they are dry.

Bonded by their common love for football, separated by their sex. Would be girl football players are often pushed aside and neglected, as their male counterparts charge into the spotlight. That's okay, Lori Parry, you may not be the NFL's first draft choice, but keep up the fight! Women's rights!

"GO CHIEFS!"

Despite frigid temperatures . . .

An enthusiastic crowd cheered on our Chiefs at this year's Homecoming weekend – Oct. 7, 1993. Some say spirit promotes success. Others say success promotes spirit. Either way, true fans are those willing to suffer frostbite for the spirits of their team.

Tommy Wayne, a great junior at PCH, was ranked in the state this year! Here, he's either successfully catching still another pass, or he's decided to take a nap . . . YOU decide!

Total attention was paid to every move made by the chemics. Here B. Riley and B. Broadnax ward off men as Phil takes the ball down. Ya win some, ya loose some . . . eh??

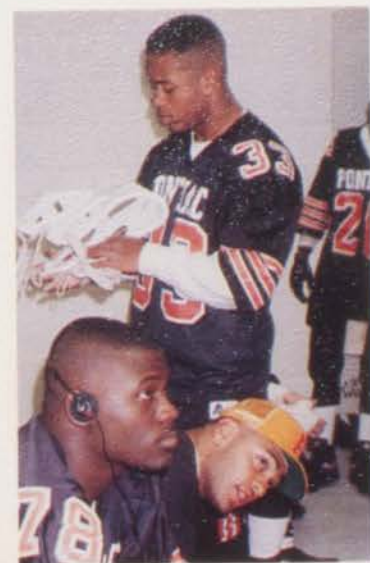

Jennifer P., the athletic trainer, smiles, though I'm sure the looks and smells of Bobby's foot were anything but pleasant. Did it hurt Bobby??? ... SACRIFICES!!

Practice, exercises, drills, and mind games are all pre-game essentials. Ray Adams knows, however, that comfort is still #1 ... "WHOOOP day it is!"

Minds are busy ... questions are asked ... Joey Ybarra music is playing ... Are you sure there's a game today? ... Great haste makes great waste ...

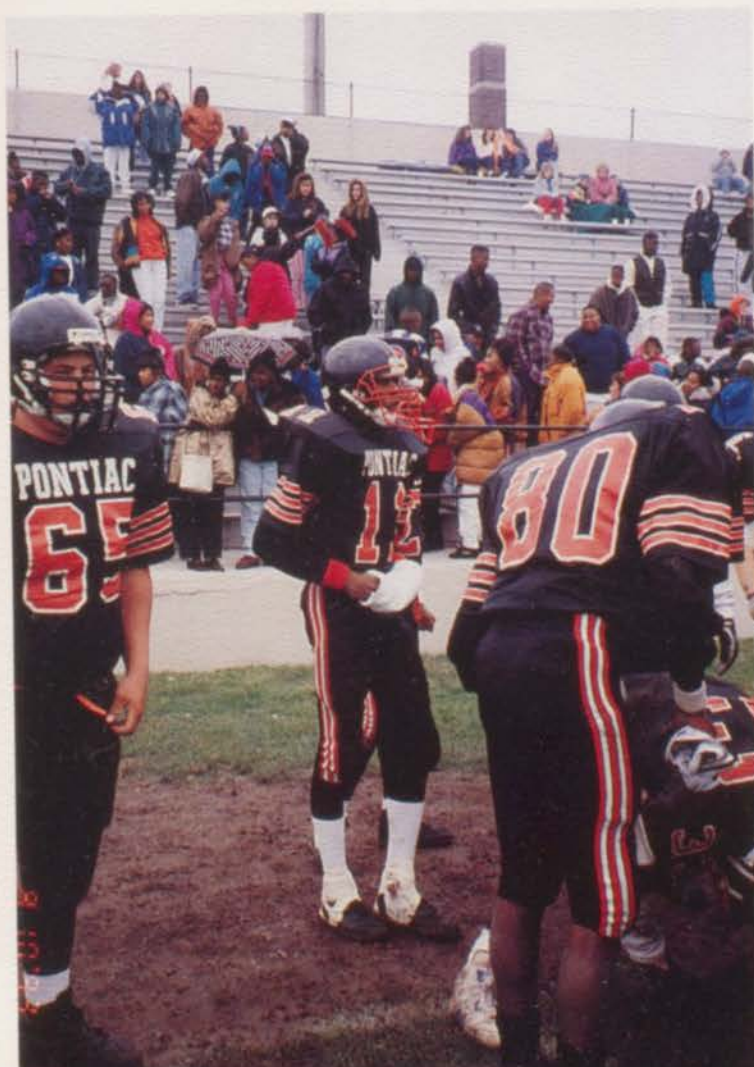

OOPSI Down goes Phil Curry, #37, refusing to let go of the ball. Phil not only put up a good fight, he gave us our only touchdown this cold and windy day. Thanks PHIL!

Just a snapshot of coach Speaks paying off the refs. Was that $50 or $60, coach? Jokes. This was a good, clean team, with a good, clean coach. Here's a big "THANKS" from the guys.

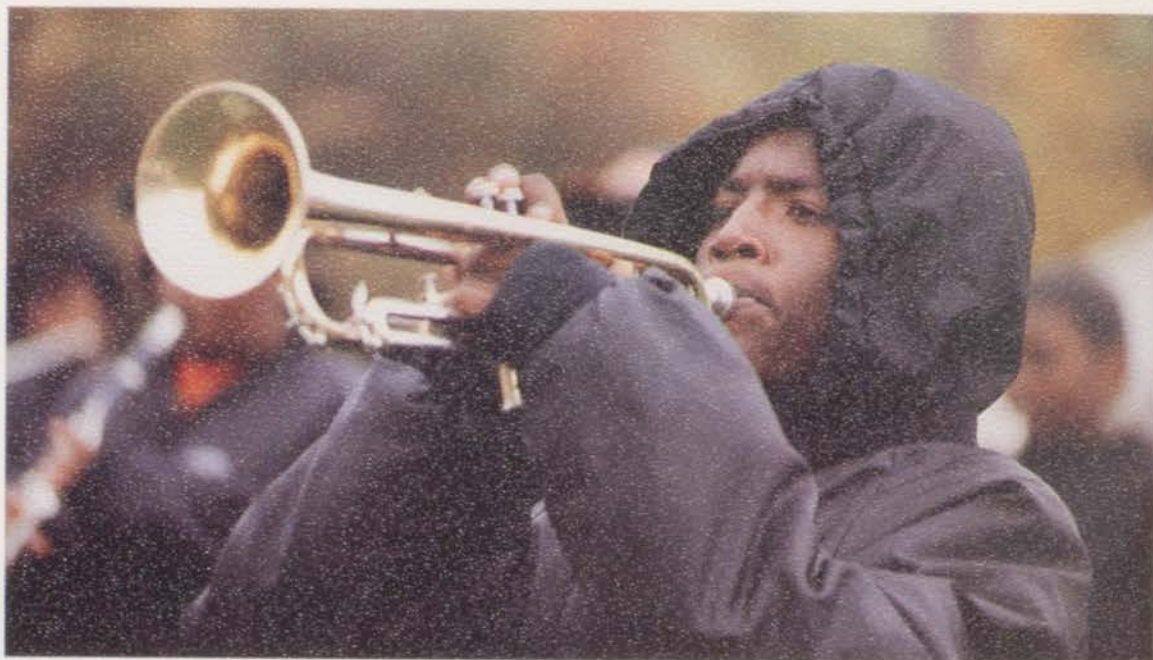

For these two men, Ray Adams and the other person, there's no such word as rest. Anticipation ... Support ... Ooooh Ah ... Why'd he do that ... I would've ... Who me coach ... NOW???

The cheerleaders braved the cold during the parade and the game. Yet they still managed to keep a smiling face. How'd you do it, Dorris Leonard? Can't you hear me? Are your ears that cold?

Fingers frozen to the bone, Terrence Pritchett, continues to send out glorious notes which enthuse the crowd and rally the team. What would PCH be without their mighty marching Chiefs?!

Pig's nothing but a gold diggin' girl ... or is it a boy ... or ... anyways! Either way, Bianca Franklin doesn't seem to mind. She ... I mean he ... has the money, right? ... Wierd Stuff ...

Mr. Smith blends with Adria Tippins and Tameka Webb on Tacky day. Question is, does he mean to?

Though David Wilson and Ien Brown are at the same game, their thoughts aren't like those of Irv Speaks. Will I win? Will we?

What do Tony Golem, Kaddra Powell, and Eugene Phillips have in common? ... Absolutely nothing!

Have you ever really looked at US?!

Chiefs Only

Did anyone notice how cold Heidi Jackson was at the game? Or how Pig really doesn't make a fly girl? It's these little things that made our high school year what it was.

It wasn't the weather, our clothes, or our hair. It was the people. Each of us contributed to making our school PCH not just a building ... a home where you hung with your friends and complained about homework.

Granted, we weren't always the sharpest looking of men. Last minute hair-

Life is all about people living
with people!

dos, laid back jogging suits, and hats to cover the nastiness were often a part of our overall personae. For the most part though, we cleaned up pretty nice.

How much money did we spend on JNCO outfits? Girbaud? In the end that's not what we remember, but it seemed so important at 6th time.

It was fun!

Heidi Jackson is trying to remember why she committed herself to this in the first place as she clings tight to our new flags. PCH finally got a flag team, and they couldn't have done better. GREAT JOB!

The mighty football chiefs gave us a performance at the pep rally that we will never forget. Was it the headbands or the magnificent outfits designed by I.L.? No, it was them. They were lively, handsome, and fun!

J. Latham and T. Parker in Homecoming skit.

School spirit is what homecoming is all about. The wearing of the orange and black is symbolic of those most spirited. Here Teresa Garcia displays the ultimate in orange and black.

P. Montgomery - ~~what~~ are those chemics going to do?

L. Fields being named to the homecoming court.

Tanesha, Ingrid and Shawndra

Sarah McCall trying to keep warm at the game.

Band Director Mr. Jeff Blazis-Voight

Mark Threets and Ronald Close listen to coach.

"How much further" says April Roston - drummer.

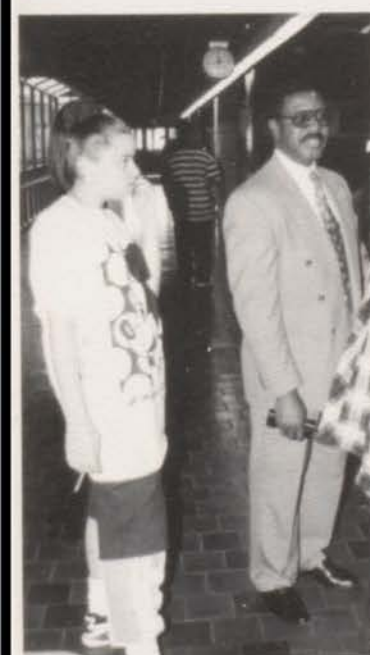

Phillip Curry and friend Donald "Ray" Adams wait for their turn to entertain their peers at the pep-assembly. As well as excellent athletes, they also excel in acting ... NOT!

Mr. Krantz demonstrates to his class the fashion of the 90s.

Be ready friends ... stripes, plaids and polka-dots are on the way in!

Don't be fooled, Rosana is playing softball. This amazing ritual, performed at Jaycee Park, almost won the game in fact. Who knows why we do the things we do! Rosana? But, it looks like she's havin' fun.

Kathryn Tovar seems to be in more of a serious mode, however, as she and Tonja Wright pay attention to their coaches' instruction. Tonja was the phenominal catcher for the Chiefs and Kathryn was simply an all around good player. Yup, yup!!

Huh?!? Captain Ingrid Liimatta isn't looking at her ball 'cause it's on the ground and Coach Kent doesn't usually hit it that far. So what are they doing ...neck exercises? Our ignorance of golf forces us to leave it to the experts - Mr. Kent?

Senior R. Peltier, is practicing one of the most difficult challenges known to man: the golf swing. Slice, hook, hack and whif are all words that come to mind. However, it seems as though Rachel is off to a good start. But with golf, ya never know!

Over the last four years we have experienced several changes, such as our nine different administrators, metal detectors, surveillance cameras, split lunches and four tragic deaths.

It was the Quiver staff job to keep up with and capture these changes. Having two different yearbook advisors did not make the job any easier, either. Somehow we still managed to provide a book full of memories.

Special thanks to Julia Simpson and Mark Krontz for their contributions and hard work.

We would like to leave on the note: Although the class of 1994 has been through many difficulties, we have managed to hang in there, keep it up!
