As I sat down to pen these words graduating class of 2004 I thought about using all of the techniques and strategies that I learned as a student for writing a great essay. My first thought was to use Webster's dictionary in an effort to find a word whose meaning would impress. I continued to brainstorm, deciding that the use of a startling statement or some fascinating fact would not be necessary. Should I use literary elements to help give birth to a visual transporting the reader to another time or place? Instead of using imagery to create a visual that would transport the reader to another time or place, I chose to keep it simple, as there is no need for rehearsing when one speaks from the heart.

I am honored and humbled to have had the privilege of being your principle. Though I have only been with you for a short time, I pledge to each and every one of you an unwavering commitment to help you fulfill your potential. You will not be judged in life by how well you performed in high school, but by the person that you develop into thereafter. Seize the opportunity to become great, as your work ethic will be the determining factor for your success. You must believe that you will become a person of greatness and live by the statement that nothing happens unless first a dream.

There are no secrets to success so do not waste time looking for them. Success is the result of persistence, hard work, perfection, and learning from failure. It is the hope of this administration that you all will leave your mark on your city, state, and country by making significant contributions to society that will profess to the world, I am the essence of Pontiac Central High School. Do not become strangers, as the only way this school will continue to grow is for you to become ambassadors of the faith and hope that assisted you in overcoming the barriers that have plagued many and prevented countless students from sharing your accomplishment. Stay focused and understand that you are the masters of your own destiny and life will be only what you make it.

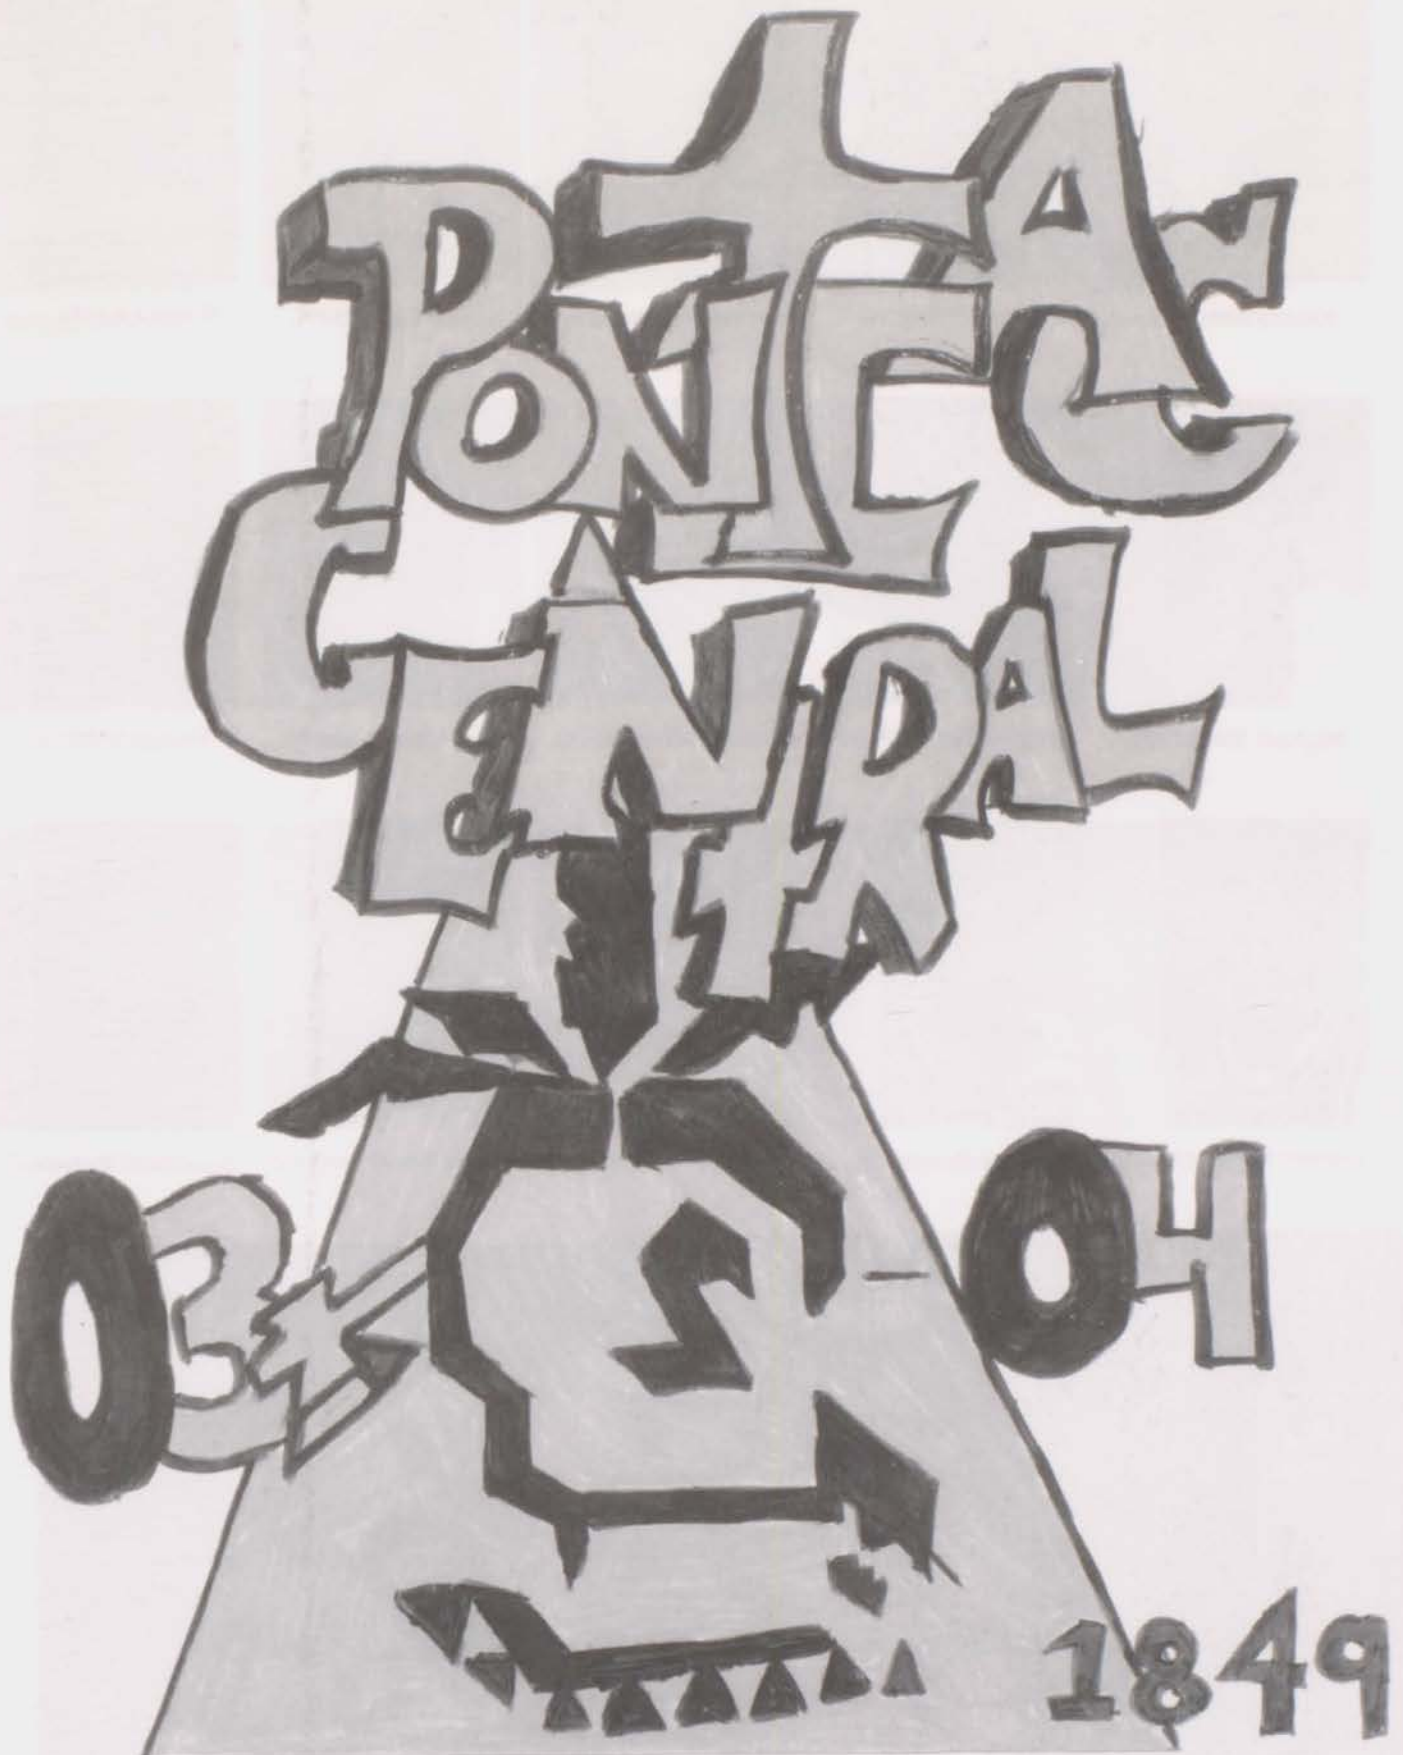

Peace & Blessings

In Memoriam

The Pontiac Central High School family lost two very special family members during the 2003-2004 school year. Mrs. Judy Allison was a media center assistant and Beatrice Boyer was a staff assistant. Both of these women will be dearly missed.

Our dear co-worker, Judy Allison passed Away Monday, November 24, 2003 after Over 30 years of service to the Pontiac School District. She started as the "popcorn lady" and moved to crossing guard, teachers' aide, and finally media aide. She served in several schools throughout the district, many of those years in the District Media Services Department where she worked with all of the schools in the district. Her last assignment was here in the PCH Media Center. She was planning on retiring in the spring of 2004. Mrs. Allison was an active member of her Union, Local 719 which represents food service, custodians and media aides. She served as union president for many years.

Mrs. Allison was well loved and appreciated by all those she worked with and she will be sorely missed.

Beatrice Boyer, better known as Ms. Bea, was a fun-loving and very generous person. Ms. Bea would readily give you the shirt off of her back if she thought it would be helpful. She got along very well with the students and everyone who knew her, loved and respected her.

Ms. Bea took a great deal of pride in her job and she worked hard to make sure the students stayed on the right track, especially when it came to respecting themselves and others. She also had a great way of making people laugh. She did not like to see a sad face on anybody she passed.

Ms. Bea was a good worker, but a better friend. She will be missed by many and she will be impossible to replace.

Key Club

The purpose of the Key Club is to help others through fund raising and community service while building leadership skills in its' members. Club Members are self-selected by attending meetings and paying their dues. Some of the activities the club has participated in are collecting and distributing can goods to the less fortunate, collecting pop tabs to help out "Miracle Kids", and washing chalkboards for teachers once a month. There are Key Clubs at several high schools in the area and all the clubs get together once a year with a "Circle K" Meeting at Oakland University.

Building With Books

Building with Books Global Action Club is in its second year at Pontiac Central. This club is open to all Pontiac Central students who are willing to contribute community service hours. Fund raising is also an essential part of the club as we send the money raised over seas to help build schools in underprivileged nations. Pontiac Central and Bloomfield Hills Andover High School take part in a student exchange each year where the students from each school's club experience the school life of the students from the other school. On February 12, 2004 Song Chang will represent our Building with Books Club as she travels to Mali, Africa as part of the "Trek for Knowledge".

Globetrotters

The Globetrotters is a club for thirty students at Pontiac Central and is sponsored by Don and Margie Arsen of Clarkston, Michigan. Ten students are selected each year at the end of their freshman year and they continue as a Globetrotter until they graduate. The club is for males and females and reflect the racial make-up of the school. Mr. and Mrs. Arsen purchase National Geographic Magazines for the Globetrotters and ask that they read the magazine, look at the pictures, share it with their families and come to dinner meetings four times a year at very nice restaurants. At these meetings Mr. Arsen arranges for students to listen to guest speakers who are leaders in their communities. Mayors, judges, prosecutors, and successful Pontiac Central alumni are examples of guest speakers students have interacted with. Ms. Haslinger and Mrs. Hopkin select students for the Globetrotters based on their character, leadership, extra-curricular activities and academic potential.

Confused

by Kyle Esmont

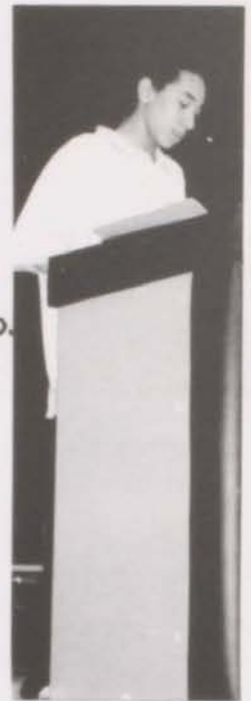

I don't know what to think, how to feel or how to act anymore.
This feeling of guilt, hurt and confusion seems to take over me more and more.
I want to be with you but I can't
I want to still love you I hate...
To admit that I don't
Any my heart continues to tell me "I won't, I won't!!!"

Your words used to feel like the air in the sky.
And every time I would think about you, you would blow my mind.
But now that feeling has blown away.
And still for some reason I want you to stay.
I want you to be here with me for all time.
And even though I claim I don't want you, you still stay on my mind.
And with that said it leaves me here alone and confused.
So baby please help me cause I love you and I just don't know what to do.

I mean I think I still want you, but I think I don't.
I know I still love you, but I kinda feel like I won't...
Be able to be there for you.
Be able to hold you.
Be able to kiss you.
And be able to tell you once more that I love you and I'll never let go.

It seems lately I've been speechless without anything to say.
And even though I try and try the words just don't come out today.
But I just don't know...

Don't know what to think, how to feel or how to act anymore.
But all I seem to know is that I love you and I want you by my side if only for once more.

This Is Why Education Is So Important

by Darrance Johnson

E is for endurance. Endure education for your future.

D is for determination. You should be determined to learn.

U is for universal. Education is universal.

C is for Central, the best high school in the nation.

A is for appreciation. Appreciate the people who are teaching.

T is for the truth.

I is not for ignorance. You cannot have ignorance while trying to be successful.

O is for opportunity. If you stay in school you will have lots of them.

N is for nothing. Nothing can go wrong while sticking to education.

America - (Be whoever you dream to be)

by Samara Kisare

Back in history...

Because of segregation among black and white
White watches on as black suffers a snake bite
According to the white, black has no rights
So black has to do many things without a light

Today...

As I sit by the window every night
I hear the birds singing freely with delight
Say... what a beautiful sight
When the moon and the stars are shining bright!

Somewhere out there...

People with no money - no one cares if they die!
Even their children are too weak to cry
Some and cried until they ran dry
All they can do is ask the Lord "why?"

Here in America...

An eagle spreads its wings
And soars neatly through the sky
While the little children sing
"I believe I can fly"
Children learning history, champions gaining victory
Bringing joy to their country, winning every trophy
America became land of the free, home of the brave and land of opportunity where everyone want to be where there is everything there is to see
Don't be left behind, grab every opportunity
The sky is the limit
Be whoever you dream to be.

The Words By Michelle Muscoualley

Sitting in my room

Writing the words.

The words I feel inside.

The words that show why I want to run, want to hide.

The words explain why my heart & soul ache so much.

The words that scream I want to be loved.

The words that express my sadness and sorrows.

The words I belt out as I defeat my foes.

The words that holler I want to be free.

The words that stand proud as I sing I'm still me.

The words that express what I can't say aloud.

The words that lift me upon my beautiful dream cloud.

Those beautiful little scribbles that make me feel special and make me want more

Those wonderful words that I adore

The words that make my feelings seen

That make me different

That make my unique

The words that make me "ME"

Playboy and Anomaly visit PCHS

Sponsored by the PMR staff, WJCB and 105.9 visited Pontiac Central to educate students on the ins and outs of the music industry. Students were encouraged to stay in school, get a good education, and pursue more education in the field of music and to find good representation as they pursue their dreams in the music industry. Following the information session the students were then entertained by PCH's Ms. Wendy and Bruce Miller. The stars of the show were local recording artists Playboy and Anomaly who danced their way through the crowd as they sang the rap songs that have them climbing their way to the top of today's charts.

PMR Student – Staff Basketball Game vs Pontiac Northern

The Positive Male Role Model Basketball game is played annually to raise money for the Traditional Black College tour for students at Pontiac Central. This year's game raised over $2000.00 for students to visit the fine colleges with a traditionally black student population. We'd like to say that Central was victorious, however, Northern claims victory this year.

Rev. Jackson and Dr. Mason

The city of Pontiac is home to five of the top robotics teams in the nation. In honor of these teams, the Reverend Jesse Jackson brought together all five Pontiac teams for a ceremony that featured F.I.R.S.T. Program founder Dean Kamen, J.T. Battenberg, President and CEO of Delphi Corporation, Judge Mathis, and Mayor Payne. The goal of this ceremony was to honor these top teams and to encourage the future success of these programs.

The nationally recognized robotics teams from Pontiac are:

Pontiac Central Chief Delphi – F.I.R.S.T. Team Hall of Fame
Pontiac Northern – National Champions 2003
Oakland Technological Northeast Campus
General Motors Truck Academy
Notre Dame Preparatory High School

Each January the Pontiac Central wrestling team hosts the Szabo Invitational named for former PCH teacher and coach, Steve Szabo. Mr. Szabo taught at Central for more than 30 years and coached wrestling here for 43 years. Coach Szabo was inducted into the Pontiac Central Hall of Fame in 1987 and returns each year to attend the wrestling tournament that is held in his honor.

Reverend Jones from Welcome Missionary Baptist Church in Pontiac. He gave a wonderful speech encouraging students to look toward the future, plan for success and refuse to fail. He was an excellent speaker and his pride in the City of Pontiac was evident as he helped us celebrate the academic achievements of the Mighty Chiefs!

PROM 2003

The Pontiac Central Prom was held at Petruzello's of Troy. The event was the highlight of the school year for many of the students and staff. Prom is a great opportunity to dress to impress and to show your teachers and classmates how well you can clean up. Prom is the final high school event of the school year before graduation and it serves as a great send-off to our fine senior class.

Enjoy these pictures that captured last year's memories as you plan for your future senior prom.
